Wall Street Again And All Sorrowful Ex-Imagination Pacific Problems

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.

ANOTHER sad day for millions.

The most numerous gentleman is he who "knew this was going to happen and will never forgive himself for not having sold short stocks that had to drop."

He mentions those that have had the biggest losses.

Later, he'll probably make up his mind to sell some stock short, and still later he'll regret it.

Wall Street finds new expressions for new conditions. Stocks sometimes sell "ex-dividend" and "ex-rights." Brokers say they are now selling "ex-imagination."

When sold "ex-dividend" stocks usually drop the amount of the dividend. Sold "ex-imagination" there is no limit to the drop, for the imagination of the gambler is powerful.

It used to be said, "Wise man, take your profits." That has changed to, "Wise man, take your losses." Meaning, don't sell in a panic and regret at leisure.

On Monday Wall Street noticed a good deal of "box selling," which means selling of stocks not by speculators and gamblers, but selling from safe deposit boxes, stocks that had been bought for permanent investment.

Washington says stock market difficulties are due to "mob psychology." They are due to the fact that 20,000,000 people started gambling all at once and the same 20,000,000 tried to sell stocks all at once.

The condition in Wall Street is like that following the cry of "fire" in a theater. Soon a good many millions will wish they had remained quietly in their seats, refusing to be stampeded.

Those that foolishly talk about a national panic will please remember that the income of this nation is one hundred billion dollars a year.

All that the people may lose now in the stock market they can pay for in a year or two, if they will stop gambling and save some money.

The late Dr. John Roach Straton, absolute fundamentalist, believed that the whale swallowed Jonah, and the latter was unaffected by the former's gastric juice; also that Joshua stopped the sun in its trip around the world, although the sun doesn't go around the world.

Many that think themselves intellectually superior to the earnest clergyman can envy him one thing.

He died convinced a limitless reward and eternal bliss would be his the moment his heart stopped beating.

It takes a good deal of modernist science to compensate for that feeling.

Two more great oil fields have been found, one in Texas, one in Kansas, and it is called, "A misfortune harmful to the price of oil stocks."

It ought to mean general satisfaction, proving the limitless wealth of this country. Unfortunately, oil companies and Government combined have not learned to protect oil resources and prevent criminal waste.

The Pacific relations conference opened in Kyoto with two unpleasant notes.

There were Chinese attacks on Japan and her policies. And the Japanese viscount, Shibusawa, said the wound caused by American exclusion of Asiatic emigration, "so needlessly reflected on our national honor, is still open, and will remain open until the matter has been rightly settled."

That wound may be open, but it should not be. There is great respect for Japan in this country, and our exclusion program is practically a confession of inability to meet Japanese competition here at home.

Incidentally, the United States exclusion laws are no more severe than those enforced by the British government in Canada, less severe than those in force in Australia and New Zealand.

And Japan says little about exclusion of Japanese immigration by her recent ally, the British Empire.

Fish, dipped in a salt solution, four degrees Fahrenheit, "are frozen hard as wood within four seconds without changing a fibre of the fish and the fish is covered with a coat of crystallized salt."

You are told that fish thus preserved keep nine months without changing, and the taste can not be distinguished from fresh fish.

It is hard to realize what the world owes to refrigera[illegible], and to other methods of pre[illegible] food.

INSURANCE CO BARRED, HAS DEFICIT OF $182,761

Bristol Mutual Liability of New Bedford Carries Policies of 9000 Auto Owners

With a reported deficit of $182,761.25, the Bristol Mutual Liability Insurance Co. of New Bedford, holding the compulsory insurance policies of about 9000 automobile owners, was today temporarily restrained from doing business by the Supreme Court.

Judge Sanderson issued the restraining order on information presented to the court by Asst. Atty. Gen. Roger Clapp, acting in behalf of Insurance Commr. Merton L. Brown.

An order of notice to the company to show cause why it should not be permanently restrained is returnable in Supreme Court next Tuesday.

Under the order the company is restrained from paying out or dispensing any money or funds, making any contracts for insurance, selling policies and transacting any other business except the collection of premiums due and payable and defending action on policies already issued.

HITS MANY AUTOISTS.

According to the report of insurance auditors, the liabilities of the company on August 31 were $344,874.49 and the admitted assets $162,113.24. Examiners stated that the deficit might be slightly reduced by collections.

Between 8000 and 10,000 autoists are affected by the restraining order and the company being a mutual one, they may be liable to assessments if the court rules the Bristol should be permanently restrained.

Commissioner Brown notified Registrar Parker of the temporary order and if a permanent order is issued next Tuesday, the registrar will notify all policy holders af-

Riley & Fitzgerald Offices Are Closed; Crowd Gathers to Seek the Cause

Worcester, Oct. 30 — Riley, Fitzgerald & Co., investment brokers, closed their offices in the Slater Building, here, today.

Customers arriving for the day's trading found the doors locked with the staff inside, and no response was made to their requests for admittance.

Police were eventually called to control the throng in the corridors, while an effort was made to find the heads of the firm, Charles L. Riley and Michael D. Fitzgerald.

At Fitzgerald's home, 541 Pleasant st., no signs of life were visible and Mrs. Riley, in response to a telephoned question, said her husband left their Northboro home for his office as usual.

The local house, which had been in business here for eight years, was correspondent for Clark, Childs & Co., of New York, who said they

Lobbyist Says Lodge Got Harding Named

Washington Oct. 30—The nomination of Warren G. Harding in 1920, the finding of $271,000 in cash in the effects of the late Senator Boise Penrose (R.), Pennsylvania, patronage lobbying and the plight of agriculture were probed today at the Senate's lobby inquiry.

Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania political leader and "granddaddy of all lobbyists," spoiled two old political yarns — one involving Harding's nomination and the other involving the Penrose cash.

Grundy denied the somewhat popular theory that the late Boise Penrose "dictated" the nomination of Harding from his sick-bed in Philadelphia.

On the other hand, he gave the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge credit for proposing Harding's name to the gathering in the hotel.

Grundy testified Penrose, was so ill at the time that instead of dictating the course of the convention by telephone he could not even talk over a telephone. All messages, he added, had to be relayed to him through a secretary.

Grundy also declared the $271,000 in cash found in Penrose's safe deposit box had been turned over to Penrose's brothers. His statement contradicted dozens of mysterious stories as to what became of this money.

Grundy listed the conferees in Penrose's hotel room at the Chicago convention as George Harvey, late ambassador to England; Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Senator Reed Smoot, Utah, the late Senator Medill McCormick, Illinois; the late Senator

NO ARMY, NAVY GAMES NOW

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—The superintendents of the Military and Naval academies failed to reach an agreement today in their effort to resume athletic relations.

Maj.-Gen. Smith, superintendent at West Point, after conferring with Rear Admiral Robison, commandant at Annapolis, said West Point felt the disrupted relations over the three-year eligibility rule with the Navy to be deporable.

He added that the Army still was hopeful that the "Navy will in time agree to meet us on the gridiron man for man as do other colleges."

Aged Woman Steals to Eat

Old, hungry, penniless and alone a woman with a shawl about her shoulders sidled up to an unguarded news stand in Central sq., Lynn, today and dumped the contents of the cash box into her hand.

Irving Kaplan the newsboy, saw her do it from his other stand across the street. Although she held the money, $2.30 and mostly pennies in her hand, the aged woman denied taking it.

Patrolman John Grinrod arrived and a crowd gathered.

"I took it because I was hungry and didn't have any money," she confessed.

"Don't arrest her," said Irving. "Let her go. Let her keep enough for a meal."

So Irving got part of his money back, the aged woman got something to eat and everybody in the crowd felt better.

N. E. Men Win Nearly $100,000 on Races

Two New England men, one of Springvale, Me., and the other of Methuen, found themselves thousands of dollars richer today as a result of the Newmarket races in England.

James Westcott of Springvale, one of the two holders of the winning horse ticket, came into $26,390.50.

Charles Buzzell of Methuen, holder of the ticket on the third horse won $13,233.25.

Double Life plodded across the finish line of the one mile and long distance with 20 to 1 against in the Army and Navy Veterans sweepstakes.

Vatout was second at 50 to 1, and Palais Royal placed at 100 to 6.

Westcott and George Kowalchuk of Hackett, Albert, Canada, each held tickets on the winning horse under the sweepstakes arrangement. Each horse was held by two ticket buyers.

Holders of tickets on the second horse, Vatout, were Harry Evanson of New York and C. A. Viger of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec. Each man receives $26,466.50 for his ticket.

Paired with Buzzell on the third horse, Palais Royal was E. H. Cail of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, who likewise will come into $13,233.25.

Mike Hall, only American horse entered in the field of 36, failed to place. In the Cesarewich, also run at Newmarket, Mike Hall came in 13th.

GARRETTS SUED ON $5327 TAX

Oliver B. Garrett, deposed head of the liquor squad of police headquarters, recently retired from the department, was today, with his wife, made the target of legal proceedings by the Internal Revenue Department in an attempt to collect $5327.91.

Thomas M. White, collector of internal revenue, filed in Federal Court notice of a tax lien against Garrett and his wife, Florence H., alias Florence H. Redden of 9 Parkvale ave., Allston.

The notice states that the Garretts owe for income taxes, penalties and interest for the year 1926 $244.[illegible], for 1927, $1445.[illegible] and for 1928, $3637.22.

The lien was to be filed on all property owned by the Garretts. Announcement was made earlier today that the dairy farm registered in the name of Mrs. Garrett at Hingham had been sold recently.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Governors of the New York Stock Exchange voted today to delay the opening tomorrow until noon, and to close the exchange on Friday and Saturday. The exchange will be open Monday, the day preceding election day.

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—The selling frenzy, which has been sweeping through the securities markets of the world during the past week appeared to have passed today, and prices on all leading exchanges rallied briskly.

Scores of issues on the New York Stock Exchange were marked up $5 to nearly $30 a share, with afternoon prices generally holding steady around the day's high levels.

Total sales on the New York Stock Exchange in the first two hours of trading were 5,376,200 shares, as contrasted with 8,378,300 shares in the same period yesterday.

At noon the Stock Exchange ticker was running an hour behind the market, while the New York Curb ticker was 1½ hours late.

High-priced stocks, which were the hardest hit in the recent reaction, led the rally. Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, New Haven and Delaware & Hudson ran up $20 a share or more, while Canadian Pacific, Johns Manville, Electric Auto Lite, American & Foreign Power and Norfolk & Western were among the many issues selling $10 to $16 a share higher.

STEEL UP TO $186

U. S. Steel common, which broke to $166.50 in yesterday's wild outburst of selling and closed at $174, was selling at $186.50 a share by noon.

Investment trusts and trading corporations have been heavy buyers of stock in the last two days, estimates of these purchases ranging from $350,000,000 to $500,000,000. These securities are purchased outright.

George F. Baker, Jr. of the First National Bank and Seward Prosser, chairman of the Bankers Trust Company, participated in the informal conference of bankers at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Company this afternoon. No indication was given at that time as to whether a statement would be forthcoming.

TELEPHONE, NEW HAVEN UP

American Telephone was one of the leaders on the rally, soaring 27½ points. Eastman Kodak ran up 25, New Haven 21, Delaware & Hudson 20½, General Electric 20 and Standard Gas & Electric, Johns Manville, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, North American and Norfolk & Western advanced 15 points or more. U. S. Steel common, which touched 166 in yesterday's break, rallied to 197.

New York bank clearings set a new high record at $2,500,000,000 today as a result of yesterday's record-breaking stock market session.

CALL MONEY 6 PER CENT

Call money renewed at 6 per cent as against 5 yesterday, with time money quoted at 6 per cent for all maturities. The stiffening of the rate today was due to heavy month-end demands for funds and possibly some withdrawals from the call market for investment in high grade securities.

The Iron Age Review reported that stock market liquidation has not materially disturbed sentiment in the iron and steel trade.

Cessation of forced liquidation in many issues was apparent from the scarcity of offerings in some of the high priced stocks, soon after the market opened. Nearly all of the leading commission houses and several investment service had advised their customers overnight that high grade stocks were a purchase at current levels.

Governors Tell Why Exchange Will Close

New York, Oct. 30.—In connection with their announcement of the delayed opening of the exchange tomorrow and of its close Friday and Saturday, the governors of the New York Stock Exchange issued the following statement:

"The volume of trading in the last week has been so enormous that the stock exchange houses have reached a point of complete physical exhaustion. Most of these employes and those of the stock clearing corporation have been on almost continuous duty for days and nights past and many of them have been without sleep for 48 to 72 hours.

"The governors have felt under an absolute necessity to recognize the purely physical and mechanical conditions and to afford the overworked staff sufficient time to recuperate and recover their strength.

"The governors believe that the shorter hours and the two days of holidays, as arranged, will put the working organizations again in good condition and contribute materially to a more orderly and effective handling of all the trading centering on the exchange.

"This line of procedure has been adopted after consultation with and approval by the so-called banking group."

The announcement was made from the Stock Exchange rostrum by Richard Whitney, a vice-president of the Exchange, and was greeted with prolonged cheers.

Railroad Motor Car Crash Injures Six

South Deerfield, Oct. 30 (AP)—Five men were injured, one severely, today when the railroad motor car on which they were riding and an automobile were in collision at a railroad crossing here.

Edward Malocki, the most seriously injured, was taken to a hospital suffering from numerous cuts and a fractured leg.

The others injured were William Milligan, section foreman with a half century service record with the New Haven railroad; Clem Carnick, Walter Wonuski and Alec Stancowiski. The automobile was driven by William Baranoski.

Stock Crash Causes Telegram Flood at White House

Washington, Oct. 30 (INS)—Public and business anxiety over the crash in stocks was reflected today by a flood of telegrams received at the White House, the Treasury, the Federal Reserve board, and other governmental agencies.

Thus far the only step taken by the administration, however, has been to permit Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, to go on the air with a speech extolling the basic soundness of the business structure.

ROCKEFELLERS BUY STOCKS

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., in a statement issued today, announced that he and his son had been purchasing sound common stocks for several days and would continue to do so in substantial amounts at "levels which we believe represent sound investment values."

The statement was one of the very infrequent comments that he has issued on business conditions in recent years, it said.

"Believing that fundamental conditions of the country are sound and that there is nothing in the business situation to warrant the destruction of values that has taken place on the exchanges during the week, my son and I have for some days been purchasing sound common stocks.

"We are continuing and will continue our purchases in substantial amounts at levels which we believe represent sound investment values."

Raskob Is Buying Stock Bargains

New York, Oct. 30 (INS)—"My friends and I are all buying stocks. The list is now filled with bargains."

John J. Raskob, political and industrial leader, made this assertion today.

"Nearly all the standard railroad stocks are cheap," he added. He expressed the opinion that the recent decline will have only a temporary effect on general business conditions. Raskob declared prudent investors are now buying stocks in huge quantities and that they will profit handsomely when this hysteria is over.

Pantages Allowed to Visit Sick Wife

Los Angeles, Oct. 30—Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman, confined in the county jail since his conviction on a charge of attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, was granted court permission to visit the bedside of his wife.

Accompanied by two deputy sheriffs, the multi-millionaire made a two-hour visit to his Vermont ave. mansion. His wife, Mrs. Lois Pantages, has been ill since she was convicted of manslaughter in the same courtroom where her husband was tried.

The Atlantic National Bank also has leased the entire fifth floor in the same building to the Boston Better Business Bureau.

Fight Forest Fires

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 30—Firemen and volunteers were continuing a 45-hour battle with two woods fires, one at West Side Park and the other at Lafayette rd., across the state line in Kittery, Me. As it was impossible to bring apparatus to the scene, the firefighters were forced to haul water themselves.

U. S. Stock Losers Rush Return From Europe

Paris, Oct. 30 (AP)—The break in prices in Wall Street and consequent stock market losses are sending home in a hurry many Americans who have been joy-riding in Europe on paper profits.

The U. S. Liner George Washington, which sails tomorrow, has a waiting list of 25, and the Leviathan's next sailing is being rapidly booked. Other steamship lines report the same condition.

The first reaction on the Paris Bourse today was irregular. Heavy offerings at the close caused a general decline, but French Government bonds, credit institutions, coal stocks and automobiles were strong.

Winchester Folk in Truck Protest

Fifty residents of Winchester today appeared at the State House before Public Works Commissioner Frank E. Lyman and urged approval of a regulation, adopted by the selectmen, barring trucks from Bacon st., Winchester. They claimed their houses are being shaken to pieces and that the noise is disagreeable. The commissioner took the request under advisement.

Air Dollar Day Sends Crowd Aloft

Westfield, Oct. 30—A dollar day program at the Barnes Airport, conducted jointly by the Westfield and Holyoke Chambers of Commerce, was a decided success, the board of managers representing the two chambers announced.

More than 400 were taken for rides. Short trips were the rule, so large was the crowd. It was necessary to refund money to numbers who did not have the opportunity of taking a ride.

TRADE IS SOUND, SAY BUSINESS LEADERS

Chiefs of Representative Industries Fear No Reaction From Stock Crash

Confidence in sound conditions in business and industry were voiced today by many leaders in the trade world. Among them were:

STANDISH BACKUS, president of Burroughs Adding Machine Company:

"Burroughs Adding Machine has had no letup in business. I know of nothing outside of the stock market break which should shake the confidence of the public in business or industry. Our business is as good as it ever was."

WALTER P. CHRYSLER, president of Chrysler Motors:

"The present hysterical selling of stocks is very unfortunate and entirely uncalled for in the face of generally favorable conditions and prospects. The automobile industry is no exception and I consider that the present offers the greatest opportunity in years for the profitable purchase of its securities."

SAMUEL M. VAUCLAIN, chairman of the Baldwin Locomotive Works:

"Business of the Baldwin Locomotive Works is better at the present time than for several years. The future seems brighter than at any time since 1923."

C. B. VANDUSEN, president of Kresge Company:

"Kresge Company cannot be stampeded into selling short on the United States, and its 120,000,000 people. We believe that fundamentally prospects for good business and steady progress are as sound and substantial as ever."

M. H. KARKER, president of Jewel Tea Company:

"Present hysterical market obviously based on fear and without substantial foundation of fact. The present sales volume, profits and outlook of this company are better than when its stock was selling at the peak of prices. Current decline in green coffee market will help the whole retailing industry."

16 Died on Sunken Steamer, 50 Rescued

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 30 (AP)—Sixteen men lost their lives when the steamer Wisconsin sank in a storm, it was determined today, by the testimony of Harvey Lyon.

Of the 16 dead, nine bodies have been recovered. Fifty more persons were rescued, 19 of them with injuries or suffering from exposure.

ROSENWALD PUT UP MILLIONS FOR EMPLOYES

Protects Them From Losing Savings in the Present Market Slump

Chicago, Oct. 30 (INS)—Pledging his personal fortune of millions of dollars, Julius Rosenwald has guaranteed the Stock Market accounts of 40,000 employes of Sears Roebuck & Company, according to a copyright story today in the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Rosenwald's action was to protect his employes from the danger of having their savings swept away by the present market, according to the story.

The announcement was welcomed today as a "bull" factor which may assist in ending the present slump and help with an upward trend in trading here.

The accounts are guaranteed regardless of what stocks are represented, according to Rosenwald's plan. The millionaire executive of Sears Roebuck & Company formulated the plan after the disastrous plunge of prices Thursday.

Lobbyist Says Lodge Got Harding Named

Frank B. Brandegee, Connecticut; former Senator James W. Wadsworth and former Senator William R. Calder of New York, and himself.

"Senator Lodge opened the proceedings and stated that as the presiding officer of the convention he had watched the proceedings with great interest," said Grundy.

"He said he had come there in the interest of Leonard Wood and that developments around the convention had convinced him that the nomination of Wood would be ill-advised. He said he felt the nomination of Gov. Frank O. Lowden would likewise be ill-advised."

"That was because they had put up and spent too much money?"

"Because their friends had," replied Grundy.

"There had been a lot of balloting and the delegates were tired. Their money was nearly run out and Senator Lodge said he doubted whether he could hold them there over Sunday. He said an effort must be made that evening to agree on a candidate. He said he was satisfied that the most available man was Senator Harding. He said that the question whether Senator Harding's friends had spent a lot of money had not been raised and wasn't an issue and so could be ignored.

"Senator Lodge recalled that no Republican had ever been elected President without the vote of Ohio. He pointed out that it looked like Governor Cox of Ohio would be the Democratic nominee and that it was especially important the vote of Ohio should be secured.

"For these reasons and divers others, Lodge said, we ought to go out and bring about the nomination of Senator Harding the following morning.

"So we did."

The committee probed the nomination of Albert R. Watson as a federal judge in Pennsylvania. Grundy said Senator Reed (R.) of Pennsylvania had chosen Watson and that the selection was approved by all Republican leaders in the state. He denied there had been any lobbying in Watson's behalf.

SAYS FARMERS WON'T PAY

Grundy professed "a strong friendship" for agriculture but refused to help slash industrial tariff rates as a measure of farm relief.

He declared the $500,000,000 set aside by Congress for loans to farm organizations would never be repaid. He said he didn't oppose the loss of this money.

Sen. Caraway questioned Grundy about his gathering of contributions for Republican campaign funds.

"Who asked you to collect this money?"

"Nutt did," said Grundy, referring to James R. Nutt of Cleveland, Republican national treasurer.

"Now you're a great friend of the farmer and you have great influence in the Republican party," said Senator Blaine (R.), Wisconsin. "You raised $700,000 in one campaign for Coolidge and $1,000,000 in the last campaign for Hoover. You are a very valuable angel for the Republican party. You put those contributions on the basis of investments which should be repaid by governmental favors."

"Now, don't put those words in my mouth," said Grundy.

VINCENT COLLELA, 35, of Mill st., Malden.

MRS. ANNIE GREENFIELD, 36, of Walnut st., Chelsea.

ELEAZER EVELY, 16, of Walnut st., Malden.

Operating the trolley car was Herbert E. Bennett of Park ave., Chelsea, and the shovel operator was Timothy Reardon of Wellington Hill ave., Mattapan.

The steam shovel is engaged in digging out a new roadbed for one of the tracks through Everett ave. and trolley cars, during the operations switch over and run single track past the Locust st. point for a distance of about 200 yards.

The Malden bound trolley had just taken the switch-over and was running on the single track when the steam shovel started to turn and dump a scoopful of earth into a truck.

When trolley and steam shovel came together the crash was audible for several blocks and practically all passengers were thrown to the floor.

Two ambulances were required to take the 11 more seriously injured to the hospital.

Guggenheim to Be "Flying Diplomat"

New York, Oct. 30 (INS)—Harry F. Guggenheim, newly appointed ambassador to Cuba, will make all of his ambassadorial calls by airplane, thereby becoming America's first "flying diplomat," he revealed today.

16 Months in Jail for 2 ex-Dry Agents

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 29 (AP)—John J. Maroney and Conrad F. Bivin, former federal prohibition agents, who pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, today were sentenced in federal court to 16 months each in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth.

$800 the Price of Immortality

Paris, Oct. 30—The price of immortality in the provincial city of Cahors is comparatively cheap—$800 to be exact.

By the payment of this sum any wealthy person with pretensions can have a street named after him or her. Legacies to city charities carry the same privilege.

DANFORTH OUT MILLIONS ON MARKET

Cutten and Fisher Brothers Are Hard Hit in the Stocks Crash

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—The New York World today said that while losses to big stock market operators have been reported as high as $50,000,000, not one winner could be found.

Losses of $50,000,000 were attributed to Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago, who a few years ago switched his interest from the Chicago grain market to Wall Street, where he is reputed to have amassed a fortune of $100,000,000.

The seven Fisher brothers of Detroit are reputed to have suffered losses of "several hundred millions."

For a while, said the World, it was thought William H. Danforth of Boston had made $25,000,000, but subsequently it was found he had switched to the bull side last Thursday and lost heavily. Until then he had been $5,000,000 ahead.

WILL ASKED FOR 'DEATH TEST'

A request that at the time of his "supposed death," suitable tests be made to ascertain if he was really gone, was contained in the will of Simon Barnard of Brookline, which was filed today in probate court at Dedham.

Barnard left about $14,000 in small public bequests to many societies and institutions and set aside $2750 for a bed to be known as the "Julia Barnard bed" at Beth Israel Hospital.

The rest of his estate, the size of which was not estimated, was converted to a trust fund for his children, to be divided among them when all reach majority.

fected that they must get new insurance within five days or forfeit their registrations.

ORGANIZED IN 1926.

The Bristol Mutual Liability Insurance Co., of New Bedford, was organized Oct. 22, 1926, a few months before compulsory insurance was made effective.

Its officers, according to the last return to Commissioner Brown, are: Walter D. Reid, president; William L. Donohue, secretary; Joseph A. Murphy, treasurer; Frank S. Wilcox and Charles S. Kelley, Jr., vice-presidents. All except Murphy are residents of New Bedford.

Since compulsody automobile insurance began, three companies so engaged have gone out of business. They were the Motorist Mutual, the I. T. O. A. Mutual and the Car Owners' Mutual.

Commissioner Brown, who has been watching the Bristol company for a long period, required it recently to put up securities to cover a workmen's compensation insurance in which it also engaged.

Graf to Use Pilot Balloon for Air Data

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin is to become a "mother balloon" in undertaking experiments preparatory to its polar flight next spring.

After overhauling, it is expected the dirigible will, late in November, make a flight over Norway and Sweden to obtain meteorological information.

This will be obtained by means of a pilot balloon which will ascend to a height of 32,800 feet from a special platform to be constructed on top the Zeppelin. The pilot balloon will be destroyed and meteorological apparatus carried by it will drop in a parachute which will be pulled back to the Graf.

Bangor Drawbridge Change Approved

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—The War Department today approved plans of the Maine Central Railroad Co., lessee of the European & North American Railway, for conversion of a drawbridge across the mouth of Kenduskeag stream in the city of Bangor, Me., into a fixed bridge.

No change is to be made in the bridge clearances or the draw machinery.

FIVE FLIERS, LOST FOR 30 HOURS IN SNOW, FIND HAM-EGG FEAST

'LOST' PLANE ONLY OFF COURSE

Passengers Highly Praise the Pilot Who Bests Winter in Thrilling Test

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 30 (AP)—A tri-motored Western Air Express plane piloted by James E. Doles today stood victor over elements and the rugged southwest after fear for the safety of the plane and its five occupants.

As a fine snow sifted over the airport here and men conferred about plans to hunt the plane, then 30 hours overdue, the ship roared onto the field, everyone aboard healthy and happy and the plane in perfect condition. A very unconcerned landing and a very nonchalant quintet of men emerged from the cabin.

Doles, with Allan C. Barrie, copilot; R. L. Britten, steward; Dr. A. W. Ward, San Francisco dentist, and W. E. Merz, Mount Vernon, N. Y., passengers, took off from Los Angeles Monday.

After a refueling stop in Arizona the plane ran into a terrific snow storm which had not been reported. For more than 30 hours there was no word, officials of the company announced the plane "missing."

LOST IN SNOW.

There was a gathering of officials and planes here in preparation for a search in the region where recently a Transcontinental Air Transport Liner crashed and burned, with loss of eight lives.

Very matter of fact, the pilots and passengers said, almost as one, "We were just forced down by the snow, stayed out over night and then came in today."

The plane had been forced down southeast of Tracheda N. M., 60 miles south of its course.

Two of the five went in search of shelter and it was only through the thoughtfulness of Doles that they were not ground victims of the storm. Doles, when the two did not return in a reasonable time, started the motors of the plane and this noise was an auditory beacon to the wandering men as darkness came.

Consuming what food they had, the party later found a cabin nearby. The night was spent there before a roaring fire.

PILOT PRAISED

Mrs. Bessie Mason, living about five miles from where the plane landed, discovered the flying party. She cooked them a meal of eggs, ham and biscuits, along in the afternoon the weather cleared sufficiently so Doles could take the big ship off from the small clearing in which he had landed. The two passengers, both of wide flying experience, highly praised Doles' ability in landing in the one small clearing visible, flanked on either side by canyons, lava beds, high timber and rough terrain.

Dr A. W. Ward told how the passengers felt as their ship began to descend into the blinding snow which made flying virtually impossible, and how the five men aboard smoked and swapped stories before a huge fire as they fought the wintry cold throughout a sleepless night.

Find Industries of Connecticut Good

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 30—The McGraw-Hill editorial expedition has found no indication of New England industrial decay in Connecticut. Through arrangements made by the New England Council, the party has visited nearly a dozen factories in this area and has found all in healthy condition.

The expedition will visit Boston and will penetrate to many of the smaller industrial centers of Northern New England before the tour is completed.

Clementel Agrees to Form Cabinet

Paris, Oct. 30 (AP)—Etienne Clementel, veteran radical Socialist, chairman of the finance committee of the Senate, and minister of finance in the Herriot Cabinet, today accepted "in principle" the task of forming a Cabinet to succeed the defeated Briand ministry.

Clementel has the confidence of the financial interests, because he took issue with Premier Herriot against a capital levy in 1925, resigning after making his position clear before the Senate.

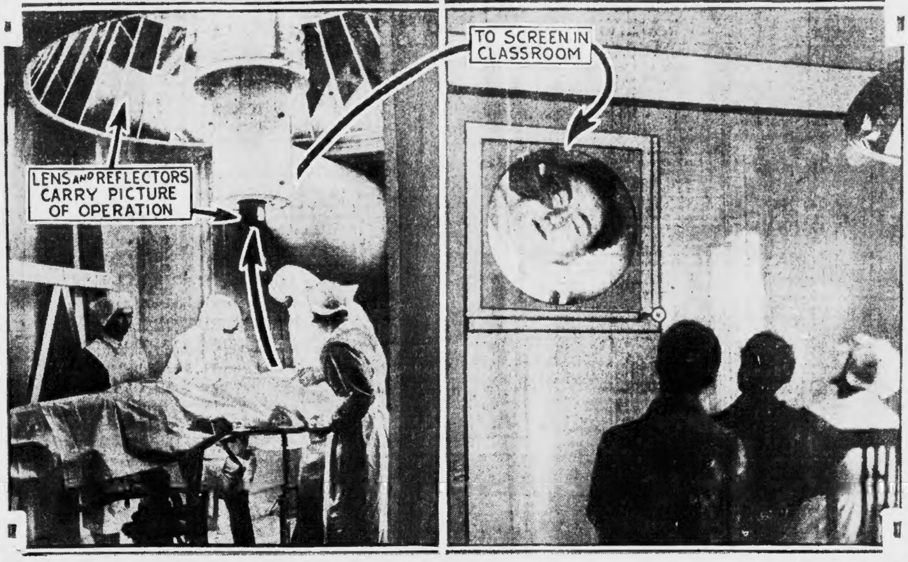
Mayor Signs $100 000 Order for Traffic Control Signals

Mayor Nichols announced today he had approved a city council order for expenditure of $100,000, under direction of the Traffic Commission to install automatic traffic control signals in Boston suburban districts.

The announcement stated it was believed the amount appropriated could be sufficient to signalize 50 intersections the commission has in hand.

The mayor also has instructed the street commissioners to lay out a number of streets in West Roxbury and Wells st., in Hyde Park.

Medical Students Can Now Witness Operation From Another Room



The scialyscope, a new invention demonstrated for the first time in the American hospital in Paris, enables a surgeon to operate without having a large group of students haunting the operating room. The machine, through a periscope-like arrangement of prisms, transfers the picture of the operation to a screen in another room. The operation is enlarged three times and doctors and students can witness every detail. The voice of the surgeon is also carried to the other room. (International Newsreel photos).

SALLIES' CHIEF GETS PROPERTY

London, Oct. 30 (AP)—A writ on behalf of Gen. Higgins, new commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, asking for transfer to himself of Army trust property now held in the names of executors of the late Gen. Bramwell Booth, was issued today.

The writ was served immediately on Booth's executors, Mrs. Booth, Commissioner Catherine Booth, his daughter, and a solicitor.

The legal representative of the Salvation Army stated it must be some time before hearing could be held on the action, but said he hoped both sides would do everything to expedite it.

The situation at present is that, while all property of the Army in Great Britain is controlled by Gen. Higgins, its ownership remains in the hands of Gen. Booth's executors.

Celebrates Escape From Death, Fined

Milwaukee, Oct. 30 (INS)—Jerry O'Shea, a 42-year-old deckhand on the Grand Trunk car ferry, Milwaukee which was lost in Lake Michigan, October 22, with all on board, is alive today but is also one dollar poorer for his escape.

O'Shea was brought into district court on a charge of drunkenness. He missed the boat, and upon learning that it had sunk, he started to celebrate.

Judge George Page congratulated the celebrant on his escape from a watery grave, but fined him one dollar for being intoxicated.

Issue $10,000,000 World's Fair Bonds

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—Issuance of the first $10,000,000 in bonds for the 1933 Chicago World's Fair was authorized by the fair organization today, it was announced by Gen Charles G Dawes, chairman of the finance committee.

The bonds were guaranteed last spring and are secured by 40 per cent of the gross admission receipts.

Ann Murdock to Wed Greek Army Officer

New York, Oct. 30 (INS) Ann Murdock, actress and divorced wife of Halgam Keep Williams, is about to embark upon her third matrimonial venture, she announced today.

The bridegroom-to-be is George Karamano, who holds a captain's commission in the Greek army.

"Showboat" Girl Dies in Fall Off Horse

Noted Metallurgist Dead

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—Prof. Leonard S. Austin, 83, metallurgist, mining engineer and chemist of international reputation and author of more than a score of scientific books, is dead.

GAMBLER MUST REPAY DOUBLE

For the first time in the memory of the oldest attaches of Municipal Court, a man was today ordered to pay twice the amount he won in a gambling game.

He was Michael Fawienk of Shawmut ave., South End, who won $450 from John Yanolitz of Rutland sq., in a dice game in which it transpired, the dice were loaded.

Special Officers Richard Kelley and John Dever of Division 5 arrested Fawienk, after Yanolitz had made complaint. His wife stopped the game by picking up the dice and Yanolitz then discovered they were "tops."

Under the law a defendant can be made to forfeit to the loser twice the amount he has won, and so Judge James H. Devlin ordered Fawienk to pay $900, after finding him guilty of winning more than $5 in a gambling game.

They Chain, Label Their Wild Autoists

Bucharest, Oct. 30 (INS)—A new and rather strange punishment will be introduced for reckless chauffeurs by the Rumanian minister of justice, according to the newspaper Ultima Ora.

Chauffeurs causing accidents will be led through the streets in chains with a tablet stating their sentences hanging over their chests. Besides, they will have to serve in prison.

Providence Bars O'Neill "Interlude"

Providence, Oct. 30—Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" may not play in Providence, nor will the present plan of censorship be scrapped in favor of a layman's play jury. The police commissioners so ruled today as the outcome of an appeal made some four weeks ago by a citizens' committee to permit the play here and to have a play jury system of censorship and supervision substituted for the present one-man plan.

Single Residence in Brookline Sold

Henry W. Savage, Inc., reports the sale of the property at 342 Clark rd. in the Fisher Hill section of Brookline, consisting of a single house, garage and 7400 sq. ft. of land. The total assessed valuation is $13,900. Samuel and Mildred W. Barbour conveyed to Richard C. Floyd of Brookline.

Woman's Beef Stew Gets Uninvited Guests in Jam

When Mrs. Mary Long arrived at her apartment, Cambridge st., Cambridge, on the evening of October 22, she found two strange men seated at the kitchen table disposing of a beef stew which she had left on the back of the stove.

The uninvited guests ran. One was captured and identified as Thomas J. Connors of Inman st., Cambridge. He appeared in East Cambridge court today charged with breaking and entering.

Judge Stone sentenced him to two years in the house of correction, suspending sentence.

Census Man May Ask Your Views on Rum

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—The polling of the American people on the modification or prohibition by the enumerators who will take the 1930 decennial census [illegible] by Representative Schafer, Republican, Wisconsin, in a [illegible] said today he has prepared for introduction.

The measure would require the census takers to ask all citizens whether or not they favor modification of the prohibition law to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer, Representative Schafer said, adding that he will seek action on it at the regular session of Congress in December.

"This method of securing the views of the American people on prohibition," the Wisconsin representative asserted, "would be cheaper than a national referendum on the question. The results of the questioning by the census takers also would be of great value to President Hoover's law enforcement commission in making its recommendation after its investigation."

NAVY PAY LOOT IS RECOVERED

Washington, Oct. 30—A tiny tin box buried in a chicken yard yielded $47,000 to Navy Department searchers, who revealed that this much of the $54,600 which Lieut. Charles Musil is charged with stealing recently as navy paymaster at Charleston, S. C., had been unearthed in the exact spot to which he led them.

After naval authorities had sought the absconder in far corners, he voluntarily surrendered aboard the U. S. S. Seattle at New York, Oct. 14. He turned $1500 over to Capt. C. T. Owens, and insisted he had spent the balance of the stolen payroll.

Officers checked his movements since the disappearance, Sept. 28. He acknowledged visits to Washington, Chicago, Detroit and Canada. Conscience stricken, Musil finally informed the investigators he would show them where he had buried the money if they returned him there.

2 Hurled 500 Feet by Texas Tornado

Houston, Tex., Oct. 30 (AP)—One man was injured perhaps fatally and two women and two men were hurt in a tornado which struck the edge of Houston today.

Half a dozen houses were demolished, barns and garages were wrecked and several dwellings were unroofed. Carried 500 feet in their bed, amidst the wreckage of their house, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Martin escaped death. Mrs. Martin was still in bed when rescuers reached the scene. She suffered probable internal injuries.

Providence Liquor Thief Suspect Held

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Joseph Green, 34, arrested last night as a fugitive from justice from Providence, R. I., denied the charge in police line-up this morning. Police said Green is charged with participating in the theft of $30,000 worth of liquor from a United States warehouse in Providence September 18.

3-MINUTE SNOW FLURRY IN ROXBURY

Rain Due Tonight; Rockies Are Blanketed After Early Blizzard

A three-minute snow flurry in Roxbury was the feature of today's weather condition. As the flakes fell youngsters thought of their sleds in cellars and attics and wondered how soon they might be put into commission.

Below freezing temperatures prevailed in upper New England early today. Greenville, Me., reported 20 degrees. Other lows were 26 at Concord, N. H., Eastport, Me., and Northfield, Vt.

The southwestern storm was central over Texas today and will cause rain throughout Massachusetts tonight and tomorrow, according to the official forecaster.

It was raining as far east as Albany, N. Y., early today.

West Is Buried Under Blanket of Early Snow

Denver, Col., Oct. 30 (AP)—Winter held sway from Montana to New Mexico in the eastern tier of the Rocky Mountain west today, but the weather forecasts indicated relief in sight.

The greater proportion of the entire area was under snow that ranged from one inch in the valleys to a foot or more in the higher altitudes.

Nineteen persons marooned on Pike's Peak were rescued and taken to Colorado Springs. Fifty persons held at Glen Cove, halfway up the automobile highway, were taken to Colorado Springs.

In Wyoming, searchers prepared to renew efforts to locate John E. Woodward, Casper postoffice employe lost in the snow-caked Green Mountain territory.

Start Car in First Speed, to Save Wear

Despite the fact that a car starts just as easily in second, or even third speed as in first, it is a very bad practice. The purpose of the three speeds is fundamentally to get the car in motion with the least possible strain on the engine, and that is why all three speeds should be used.

Omitting one of the speeds only shortens the life of the car. It submits the clutch to undue wear.

Hold Up Action on Airport Closing

Lowell, Oct. 30—The threat of State authorities to close the Lowell airport to commercial flying has been held up according to word received from Frank E. Lyman, chairman of the Department of Public Works.

Being assured by airport officials that the lower field of the airport will be filled in and opened to receive the very largest of airplanes on or before November 25, the State department will take no further action, Commissioner Lyman stated.

Boys Set Fire to 8-Tenement House

Lewiston, Me., Oct. 30—A fire set by boys at play in the basement of an eight-tenement block belonging to Phillipe Laurendeau in Walnut st., did damage to the extent of about $4000.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Laurendeau, who telephoned the fire department, and then warned all the tenants.

200 Drivers Face Worcester Court

Worcester, Oct. 30—Nearly 200 automobile operators will be arraigned in central district court here during the next few days on charges of violating the automobile regulations, according to Chief of Police Thomas F. Foley.

The appearance of so many establishes a record for a single drive, which has been made by the local and the State police in and around the city as a part of the safety campaign.

Leases Floor on Congress Street

The Goodman Engraving Co., Inc., has taken a long term lease on the second floor in the Page building at 295-97 Congress st. Frederick R. & Dana Estes of Brookline are the lessors. This lease was negotiated through Arthur P. Pearce Jr.

JUDGE JAILS 3 WHO HAVE KEPT THE FAITH

Refuse to Divulge Sources of Information on Washington Rum Joints

Washington, Oct. 30 (INS)—Three reporters for the Washington Times were adjudged guilty of contempt of court and each sentenced to 45 days in jail today because of their refusal to disclose to a District of Columbia grand jury confidential information they had gathered in a current investigation of Washington liquor traffic.

The Times has been daily printing an expose of vice conditions in the capital and the three reporters, Gorman M. Hendricks, John F. N[illegible], Jr., and Linton Burkett have conducted the investigation upon which the articles were written.

All the evidence gathered by them was turned over to the grand jury, but the district attorney insisted upon the reporters revealing the sources of their information, which they declined to do on the ground of professional ethics.

JAILED WITHOUT BAIL.

Justice Peyton Gordon declined to admit them to bail pending appeal of their sentences, and ordered them immediately into the custody of the U. S. marshal.

The Times announced that habeas corpus proceedings will be undertaken to obtain the liberty of the reporters.

The reporters might have stood on their constitutional rights and refused to testify on grounds of self-incrimination but they waived their immunity on these grounds and elected to stand on the right of newspapermen to protect their sources of information.

NEWSPAPER WILL FIGHT.

They further defended their stand by declaring that if they turned "stool pigeons" and divulged sources of their information they would lose their positions, be unable to obtain employment on other newspapers and would be "forever held up to public disdain, scorn, ridicule and contempt."

Justice Gordon took a contrary view.

"It is the duty of every private citizen," said the court, "when they know a crime has been committed, to give testimony before the grand jury to enable the government to prosecute the criminal, and it is also your duty to respond as a witness to those questions."

The Times plans to fight the case to the limit.

Taxi Man Sentenced as Drunken Driver

Bertram E. McKillop, a taxi driver, who gave a Charlestown address, was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction by Judge Devlin in central court for a second offense of drunken driving and to an additional month on a charge of drunkenness.

He pleaded with the court for leniency, but Judge Devlin stated, "I cannot be lenient in this case. There is a suspended sentence for the same offense, which was obviously no deterrent."

Sub 342 Feet Down 'Talks' to Surface

Spezia, Italy, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Italian submarine Tito Speri, 830 tons, today submerged to the extraordinary depth of 342 feet in tests and remained there 20 minutes.

Experimental "hydrophonic" communication was carried on from the depth with the submarine Sciesa on the surface.

Everybody Cries as Bank Man Trips Off Bombs

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 30 (AP)—Tears streaming from their eyes, a dozen customers and a score of employes dashed into the street from the First National Bank here and for half an hour wept on the sidewalk while noontime crowds wondered and, approaching, also burst into tears.

An employe, who apparently preferred to remain a man of mystery, tripped a lever, releasing a dozen tear bombs not intended for everyday use.

Nobody cried as much as the two or three employes who had to stay inside to see that nothing was disturbed.

STATE FUNERAL FOR SENATOR BURTON

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Official Washington laid aside the bickerings and strife of factional and political enmities today and united in honoring the memory of Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio.

The Senate chamber was prepared for a state funeral of impressive and simple solemnity, attended by President Hoover, members of the Cabinet, the Supreme Court and others high in official life.

Tonight the body will be placed on board a train for Cleveland, where it will be interred. A large delegation from the House and Senate, in both of which branches of Congress Senator Burton served, will go to the Ohio city for the services there.

The service in the Senate chamber was placed in charge of the Rev. Z. D. Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, and the Rev. James Shepa Montgomery, chaplain of the House, while the program included addresses by Senator Fess of Ohio and Representative Hawley of Oregon.

MME. CURIE GETS $50,000 RADIUM DRAFT

Washington, Oct. 30—Madame Curie, co-discoverer of radium, was in Washington today to become the recipient of the means of purchasing a gram of the precious metal to be used in a continuation of her research work.

A guest of President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House, the tiny woman who accepted as the legacy of her husband the complementary studies prompted by their isolation of the element, was honored by the National Academy of Sciences.

A draft for $50,000, encased in silver, was made out to her and presented at ceremonies including an address by the President. Its purpose was the purchase of a gram of radium to be used in the Curie Polish Cancer hospital and laboratory in Warsaw.

Inasmuch as radium is no longer extracted from American ore arrangements to present her with the radium itself were foregone in order that it might be bought abroad.

In deference to Madame Curie, who has not enjoyed the best of health recently, no elaborate social functions had been planned. Supplementary to the family dinner at which she was a guest at the White House last night and the program today, it was arranged that only a few friends of the President's family should meet her.

Important Government officials and many of Washington's scientific personages were invited to the ceremonies of the presentation of the draft.

U. S. Foreign Trade Is Greatest Since War

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A 9 per cent gain in exports and a 10 per cent gain in imports for the first nine months of 1929 indicate the largest growth of American foreign trade in any year since the war, the National Foreign Trade Council reported today.

Exports for the nine months were $3,840,000,000, or $292,000,000 greater than they were in 1927, the next highest total for the period of almost nine years.

Imports for the nine months at $3,361,000,000 were larger than any year since 1920.

The export business in automobiles and parts this year is the largest ever recorded. The figures for thef irst nine months, with exports valued at $455,400,000, show a gain of 22 per cent over the next highest corresponding period which was last year. Machinery exports have also been the highest on record for the past nine months, totaling $462,500,000 or 25 per cent better than the corresponding months of last year.

"It is in these figures," the Trade Council said, "that it becomes apparent that the main occupation of American export trade today is to equip the rest of the world with the implements of the American standard of living."

N. E. Manufacturers to Visit Washington

A special effort to demonstrate to New England's representatives in Congress the interest that business men of this section have in foreign trade, and to give to manufacturers a better understanding of the services available to them at the United States Department of Commerce, will be made by a tour to Washington of New England manufacturing export executives, November 7 and 8, under the auspices of the New England Export Club of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The party will be led by Howard Coonley, former president of the chamber.

Caveman Has Plenty to Do to Keep Alive

By BURT [illegible]

Beartr[illegible] Camp, [illegible], Que., Oct. 30 (By courier to [illegible])—One of the things I have had in mind ever since coming into the North woods is that the readers of this newspaper might like to know how a modern apartment dweller, transformed overnight into a prehistoric cave-dweller, passes his day. Assuming that the "ayes" have it, here goes:

Not having a [illegible] I [illegible] begin my day after from 10 to 12 hours' sleep [illegible] with kneeling [illegible] building of a fire [illegible].

This is a [illegible] of [illegible] a fire-board of the same material and a hand-socket to [illegible] the upper end of the spindle which is rotated by the loosely strung bow [illegible] so rapidly that the friction [illegible] from the fire-board [illegible] the dust that has been ground from the two pieces of soft wood which in turn sets afire the carefully dried tinder of birchbark and pounded dried grass.

This constitutes my early morning exercise. And believe me it is quite strenuous.

NOW FULLY CLOTHED

Since I [illegible] every scrap of clothing I possess, the [illegible] of arising on a cold morning is not so difficult as it would seem. From the beginning, I have been obsessed with the idea that I must get my moccasins [illegible] clothing made immediately, and that I must try in every way to keep them dry so that they would not wear out.

This led me into an error—the mistake of making things from untanned skins. Realizing that error the first week, I have endeavored on every mild day—[illegible] so mild—to rectify it by tanning my foot-gear and other things piece-meal. So that about three weeks after arriving in the Quebec wilderness I can say that I am fully clothed and in my right mind.

My outfit consists of a pair of moccasins, a pair of [illegible], a pair of moosehide trousers and a deerskin hooded shirt, with the hood serving as a hat and, in addition, keeping snow from going down my neck. To continue my routine:

The fire now blazing merrily just outside my [illegible] shelter, I fill my birch-bark cup from the water-bucket of the same material, cut myself a slice of moose-hide, trim the hair to the proper tooth-brush length, and proceed with [illegible] of my teeth [illegible] powdered charcoal [illegible] my favorite [illegible].

WATER FOR BREAKFAST

This is followed by two cups of water, the chill being taken off by holding the cup inserted in a split stick just near enough the fire so that the bark does not come in contact with the flames. This [illegible] my breakfast.

Leaving some [illegible] over the fire to keep it going, I [illegible] out to [illegible] my rabbit snares. There are eight of them, scattered over a mile of trail, so that usually takes me an hour, as two or three of them may need resetting. On the way back to camp, I usually find an eight-inch or ten-inch jack-pine that has been killed by fire, cut it down and bring a ten-foot length of it home; the following morning I get the other piece. They weigh from 70 to 80 pounds each.

ON DAYLIGHT TIME

Having arisen at about eight, it is now about 10 o'clock. I suppose by this time, October 27, the folks in civilization have gone back to standard time, but I still keep my watch set an hour ahead. (I should explain here, perhaps, that I am permitted to bring a watch because it would not "help me to make my living in the woods" and because a watch is a necessary photographic adjunct.)

Replenishing my fire, I set about getting a combination breakfast-lunch, although, as a rule, there is nothing on the menu to suggest either—it is usually boiled rabbit, fish or squirrel.

Approximately half a pound of the meat and two cups of broth are my portion. If the day is rainy, as the majority of them seem to be, I spend the next three or four hours making some bone implement or weapon. Every fish-hook, awl, arrow-head, spear-head, fish-gaff, punch, and so forth, represents hours of patient labor. The Eskimo fish-spear, with its three bone implements, was a two-day job.

While I cannot say that I have reverted to the primitive in three weeks, I must admit that it seems to come quite natural for me to gnaw a bone until the last vestige of flesh is removed, and then to throw it just beyond the fire—As Neolithic man did.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South and West passing, North must also pass, as he lacks the three Quick Tricks required for an original Third Hand bid when the values held are in but two suits. East, with a powerful hand of a No Trump rather than of a suit type, bids No Trump to start with. South passing, West has no distributional reason for a take-out.

North now shows his Heart suit to direct a lead should East bid further. East, however, with but one stopper in the Heart suit adversely bid, doubles negatively for his partner's best suit bid. In response thereto, West bids two Spades, correctly naming his four-card Major rather than his Minor suit, though much the weaker of the two. As the response is what East hoped for, it obtains the contract.

Contract: South, West and North passing, East holding sufficient all-around strength to warrant a two bid, [illegible] Spades [illegible] ably to two No Trumps as, while holding all four suits stopped, he holds first two of them doubly stopped.

East, however, then bids three No Trumps, as his distribution favors trying for game at No Trump rather than at a suit bid. Besides the three No Trump bid offers West the option of Spades or No Trumps as the game bid. West exercises the option by bidding four Spades, as his holding distinctly favors a Spade contract.

The Play

At Auction (played by West) North opens the King of Hearts and Declarer permits him to hold the trick, hoping that the shift may be through Dummy's King of Diamonds. North, however, shifts to Clubs, leading the 9, and East comes up with Dummy's King rather than finesse, having in mind his intended line of play.

He proposes to enter his own hand by ruffing the third round of Hearts in order to lead a Spade for a double finesse. Should the finesse lose, then if South returns a Club, no Club trick need be lost. If South leads a Diamond, the Ace can be forced and the suit established and Dummy's losing Club can be discarded on a good Diamond. There is no necessity, therefore, for an immediate Club finesse.

Following his plan, Declarer now plays Dummy's Ace of Hearts followed by a low Heart, in order to enter his own hand by ruffing so as to take the double finesse in Spades. The finesse of the 10 of Spades loses to South's King. South then leads a Diamond rather than a Club as North's lead of the 9 of Clubs marks him with a doubleton (unless West false-carded the 7) and also denies the Jack or 10, both of which must be held by Declarer.

At contract (played by East), South, with no indication from partner, opens the 3 of Clubs and Dummy's 10 holds the trick. Declarer leads a low Spade from Dummy, finessing the 10, which loses to South's King. Lacking a good shift, South leads another Club, the 2. East, winning with the King, leads the Ace of Trumps and both adversaries following, continues with the Queen, exhausting the trumps adversely held. Declarer then establishes the Diamond suit. The adversaries must make, in addition to the King of Spades, the Ace of Diamonds and also a Heart trick, Declarer making four odd.

To fittingly celebrate the opening of our new Waltham store—we have gone the limit to make this event one that will live in the memories of all our customers for years to come. Our Buying Staff have been working for months—day and night—combing and searching the markets—with one thought uppermost in their minds—that is "To Give More Dollar for Dollar Value Than Has Ever Been Offered Elsewhere in New England." Hundreds of manufacturers were visited, and through our tremendous buying power—and the manufacturers' recognition of the opening of another Morgan Store—we received greater than usual price concessions—in fact many cases below cost to make.

Says Try Out Lemon Pie On Visitors

Editor Boston American:

Lemon pie and a history of the United States figured prominently in two divorce suits this past week in this locality. For the husband who bought a history of the United States instead of paying the coal bill, we must admire his desire to seek diversion from the constant family jar by turning his mind on the early troubles of this country to become a republic. He wanted to forget the discordant notes of family life by the jars of national broils and difficulties.

This to my way of thinking was a very commendable move. Now about lemon pie. No young housekeeper should tackle making lemon pie. It requires a great deal of practice to make a good lemon pie, but don't begin with your husband, but with the friends that you invite to share a meal with you. Practice on them. Guests generally have no back fire. They suffer silently with dyspepsia from eating premature lemon pie. I speak from experience.

HOUSEKEEPER

Warns of Approach of Undulent Fever

Editor Boston American:

Undulant fever is heading for Boston. It is one of the newest disease, but it is not fatal. It is known in some sections as "Malta" "Mediterranean fever" and is acquired from the milk of infected cows or goats.

The number of cases in the United States increased from 24 in 1925 to 549 in 1928. This disease lingers with the patient for a long time with many periods of apparent recovery and subsequent relapses. High fever with rheumatic and neuralgic pains occur. Many colds today are nothing more than undulant fever.

Fall River. CHEMIST

Bar Push Carts On Busy Streets

Editor Boston American:

Push carts in busy sections of Boston should not be allowed. They should be assigned certain sections of the city where they may be found instead of being tolerated as they creep along Summer st. to lure the crowds to their merchandise.

They are often found in adjoining streets to Summer st. This should not be tolerated. If parking is not allowed for autos on these streets, why should push carts have this privilege given them?

I saw traffic blocked for some time on Summer st. because a push cart helped to make it congested in this particular section. Citizens are constantly complaining of these agents of obstruction.

HARRY T. TURNER

Superstition Rife On Boston Streets

Editor Boston American:

Did you ever notice how many people show their sensitiveness toward being under the spell of superstition on Boston streets?

Those walking abreast will not allow any one to be sandwiched between them in walking along the street, believing that such a breach would bring them some sort of disappointment.

Probably a ladder standing against a building on any thoroughfare of Boston will easily be an object of investigation for any one to mark how superstition ranks in the thoughts of many pedestrians. Very few if any will pass under the ladder, but nearly all will give it a wide berth on the outside.

This is another precurser of trouble. Boston streets are constantly affording opportunities to show how much superstition rules many, especially women.

Hen Given Bean Competition Here

Editor Boston American:

"What bird or animal is the most economical producer of food in the United States?"

This question was put to a number of youths studying biology in Boston.

Three-fourths of the answers produced the ordinary hen worthy of this distinction. It was proved by the answers that no other animal on the farm more efficiently manufactures a finished product for human consumption from raw material than the hen. Some hens lay more than 300 eggs in a year and this number has gone up to 351.

The answers to this question showed that the coming generation are getting to know more about this bird than fell to the lot of the past generation. Just think of an incubator able to turn out 1,800,000 chicks every three weeks. Boston this week has had four carloads of dressed fowls sent here for the market. Boston baked beans is getting a strong competitor.

Pedestrian's Rights Are "Last Sad Rites"

Editor Boston American:

I have read with interest many comments in your column of "Letters from Readers" about traffic congestion and have nothing to add to them, except that pedestrians are feeling this and when any one crosses a street in Boston today, in the retail section of the city, it is with some fear.

Some one said lately in view of this congestion that the "pedestrians have rights. Yes! but they are only the last sad rites."

But all joking aside, why does not some one come forward and give us a solution?

Revoke Licenses After Accidents

Editor Boston American:

Now that everyone is speculating over what to do in preventing auto accidents, this procedure was advocated at a meeting of business men on Boylston st. last week.

Take away the auto from any one who has figured in a serious accident, refusing to allow this person even to obtain a license for ten or more years. Fine jaywalkers if crossing streets at other than at recognized crossings.

An average of 91 persons are being killed daily in the United States by autos according to the report sent out by the National Safety Congress. The number killed for one year in this country is 33,315. If infants paralysis or diphtheria caused these deaths how they would howl at the physicians.

Court Hears About a Fighting Family

Editor Boston American:

A Boston lawyer in court last week told the following story to illustrate a particular point in the case he was pleading for.

An exacting wife belonging to Boston who had applied for a pension, was asked by the pension examiner:

"Why do you think yourself entitled to a pension?" "Why," was the surprised reply, "my husband and I fought all during the Spanish-American War."

There was heavy rapping of the gavel to restore the quiet of the legal sanctuary after this shock.

NOW You Can Sleep

Rest and Relax

No more sleepless nights caused by "NERVES." No more tense, wakeful hours with every nerve "on edge" . . . and the miserable mornings that follow. When your "NERVES" are overstrained—when they keep you awake nights . . . do as thousands of other nervous men and women do to get sound, restful sleep.

Before you go to bed, drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water. You'll like the sparkling effervescent drink it makes. Its the same old reliable NERVINE formula that has been on the market for over 50 years—now offered to you in handy tablet form. NERVINE Tablets are harmless, and the bicarbonate of soda and citric acid each tablet also contains tend to correct acidosis. Usually one or two NERVINE Tablets will quiet your "NERVES" and bring welcome relaxation and sleep.

You'll Get Relief—or Money Back

To prove what satisfying relief Effervescent NERVINE Tablets give for sleeplessness and most other nervous troubles, we make you this liberal offer. Get a package at your drug store and try them. If you are not fully satisfied with results, your druggist will refund your money. [illegible]

TARIFF UP AGAIN IN DECEMBER

Washington, Oct. 30 (INS)—Passage of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill in the regular session beginning in December became today th egoal of administration Republicans who refused to admit the bill is doomed to die.

Aroused by the prediction of Sen. Reed (R) Pennsylvania, that the measure will never become law because of Senate and House differences, a half dozen senators banded together to speed action.

Sen. Jones, Washington, acting Republican leader in the absence of Sen. Watson, Indiana, announced emphatic opposition to abandonment of hope for the measure.

"We should not quit under any circumstances," said Jones. "We should go ahead and get the bill to conference with the House as speedily as possible. I am confident a reasonably satisfactory bill can be enacted."

With Sen. Jones leaning toward the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition stand on some rates and still acting as spokesman for the administration, it is expected efforts will be made to compose the differences which have split the Republican ranks.

Appeals Liquor Fine

Westfield, Oct. 30—Lorenzo Bertonelli, Point Grove rd., Southwick, was fined $50 in district court for making an illegal liquor sale. He entered an appeal.

Escaped Convict Back, Prefers Jail to Life to Wife

Belgrade, Oct. 30 (INS)—Stating he preferred the company of a jail keeper to that of his wife, Marco Marcovic returned to the Belgrade Jail, where from he escaped about four years ago.

Marcovic, was serving an 18-year term for murder when he escaped. Masquerading under a false name in a small village in Serbia, he married a widow there two years ago.

The rule of his wife appeared to have been more severe than that of his jailers, and the flight from his home more dangerous than that from the prison.

After brooding long over the futility of freedom, he realized that there was only one escape—to go back to the prison. And so he did.

Wet Towel Duels Barred Lynn Police

Lynn cops were scolded today by Acting Chief of Police Edward D. Callahan, who instructed them to cut out duels in the guardroom in which wet towels are used as missiles. The chief had a narrow escape from being hit by one of the towels as he entered the place. Another, containing an iron bolt, smashed a panel in one of the lockers.

The chief talked at length on the destruction of city property and the boys in blue all promised to be good henceforth.

RUM BALLOT IN ONTARIO TODAY

Toronto, Oct. 30 (AP)—The liquor control act inaugurated by the Conservative government of Premier Howard Ferguson was the principal issue, as Ontario voted on its 18th Legislature today.

In its stead the Progressives demanded bone-dry legislation, while the Liberals declared for plebiscite when demand for a change becomes manifest.

Foes of the act charged it has proved a failure; that crime and drinking were increasing; that homes had now become the scene of prolific drinking, and that popular opinion demanded an immediate return to "dry" legislation.

To all these charges, Premier Ferguson replied that operation of the act was proceeding satisfactorily and that a longer period was necessary to give it a fair trial.

The Conservative party, which at dissolution held 75 ceats, had placed a candidate in the field for each of the 112 seats, and asserted confidence that their representation would be increased.

Dr. Wiley, Pure Food Expert, Near Death

Washington, Oct. 30—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, 86, famous pure food expert, ill several weeks, has suffered a relapse and is reported in a critical condition.

Dr. Wiley took to his bed with a severe cold early this month and a weakened heart has aggravated his condition.

Catholic Truth Talks Win Wide Favor

Non-Catholics, as well as Catholics, in Boston and New England have reacted favorably to the Catholic Truth broadcast over Station WNAC. Rev. M. J. Ahern, S. J., of the Jesuit House of Studies at Weston, told 300 persons at the annual banquet of Bishop Cheverus Assembly, fourth degree Knights of Columbus, in the Chamber of Commerce.

Letters of praise, he said, are received from persons in various Protestant denominations in large numbers. Emphasizing that the broadcast is not a Catholic religious service, Fr. Ahern pointed out that the obligations of a Catholic service cannot be fulfilled over the radio and that the presence of the participant is necessary.

After outlining plans for future programs of the Catholic Truth Period, Fr. Ahern expressed his thanks to John Shepard, 3d, who has made free donation of the broadcasting time for the Catholic Truth radio talks.

Other speakers were Rev. Joseph F. Coppinger, I. P. P., of South Boston, chaplain of the Massachusetts Knights of Columbus; John E. Swift, State deputy of the Knights of Columbus; Dr. Timothy Hanrahan, vice supreme master of Cabot Province, and Louis A. Weston, master, district of Massachusetts. John J. Delay, faithful navigator of Bishop Cheverus Assembly, was toastmaster. The committee on arrangements, headed by E. A. Hurley, included James J. Doherty and Eugene I. Corbett.

To Talk on Arab Riots

The underlying causes of the riots in Palestine will be the subject of an address by Dr. Charles C. Batchelder of New York at the meeting of the New England Woman's Club at the Hotel Kenmore next Monday afternoon.

Belgium to Limit Alcohol Purchasers

Brussels, Belgium, Oct. 30 (AP)—Drastic changes in legislation regulating use of alcohol in Belgium are foreshadowed by recommendations of special investigating committees that the minimum sale quantity of alcohol be reduced from two quarts to one and the so-called aperitif drinks be abolished.

The committees also suggested that certain imported beers, with as much as 12 per cent alcohol, be no longer sold.

Not in a long, long time has a motion picture so thoroughly captivated audiences as has "Marianne." Outstanding as an achievement of the Talking Screen! Outstanding as a human, lovable portrait of sunny France in Armistice days! Wait 'till you see the antics of merry Marion Davies aided and abetted by Cliff Edwards (Ukelele Ike). Wait 'till you hear the songs: "Marianne," "Oo-la-la-la-la," "Blondy," "Just You Just Me" and all the rest. Don't delay getting your share of a grand and glorious time!

WANT AIRPORT ROAD NAMED FOR NICHOLS

By GEORGE W. HAMBLIN

Malcolm E. Nichols leaves the mayor's office December 31, and the improvements he has made in the Boston Municipal Airport will go unnoticed unless there are steps taken to perpetuate his name.

With this in mind, the boys at the airport have started a petition to name the new road that runs in back of the new hangar the Nichols ave.

Mayor Nichols stated when he first took steps to get the airport away from the State, that he didn't know anything about aviation, airplanes or airports, but that he was going to learn as fast as possible. And if the strides toward completion the airport has been making are any criterion, Mayor Nichols is learning fast.

The municipal building, with its Memorial Portico, will be ready for cornerstone-laying about December 1, and the dedication of the building will take place on or about that date.

There is no doubt about the decline of the independent operators' on the airport. The million-dollar companies have come in and the small man must get out. As a result a storm of protest is brewing among the fellows who have been on the airport practically since it was built, and who have carried on in face of good business or has.

Tom Croce Val Chick and Bay State are under the impression that they will barely be able to eke out a living on the airport in the future.

Croce, being the most outspoken pilot for the crowd, claims to have been told that the minute he leaves the airport or buys a new ship, just so soon will he be barred from the airport.

"It is a pretty state of affairs when a municipal airport is given over to a few companies who have built hangars" said Croce. "We and I mean the independent companies have been shunted into the southwest side of the new road where we may try to eke out a living. We are told that the companies who have leased hangar space are the only ones who may solicit business on the real side of the airport, even though we pay $50 a month hangar space required by the operating companies."

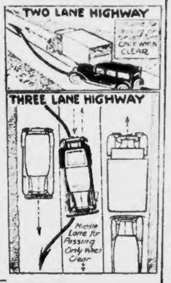
There is a rumor running around the airport that the old army operations building will be out of the picture after Thursday night, which is Halloween. The building is sitting right out in the middle of the airport now, and with the old Boston Airport Corp. hangar, constitutes a menace to the air traffic of the airport.

The army, so we are told, has been removing all electrical fixtures from the building.

Harold G. "Waco" Crowley, who is no relation to the mail pilot, has stated that, even though the marine division of the Curtiss Wright Flying Service has folded up for the winter, he is still carrying on with land planes, and he hopes to go South for the winter with the marine division of the company.

Adolph Mindred Backstrom, chief of student instruction of the same company, is giving his most adept student, Miss Edith Forbes, her initiation in piloting. As he said last week, Backstrom has high hopes of turning Miss Forbes loose in six hours. Whether she will be able to solo in that length of time or not, is entirely up to Miss Forbes, according to Backstrom.

Drivers Must Observe Lane Markings



Section 4 (Rule 1)—"When any highway has been divided into lanes, a driver of a vehicle shall drive so as to be entirely within a single lane and shall not move from the lane in which he is driving until he has first ascertained if such movement can be made with safety; further, the driver of a vehicle shall operate the same in the lane nearest the right side of the highway when said lane is available for travel, except when overtaking another vehicle or in preparation for a left turn; and upon any highway which is divided into three lanes, no driver of a vehicle shall operate the same in the center lane unless overtaking another vehicle or in preparation for a left turn, or unless the right lane is impassable, or unless instructed to do so by a police officer."

By DR. MILLER McCLINTOCK,
Traffic Expert, Department of Public Works.

Traffic lanes have great utility. They tend to keep vehicles in regular lines, discouraging weaving in and out, which is a dangerous practice. The above rule is designed to make laned highways as safe and convenient as possible by prohibiting certain acts which have been found to be the cause of accidents and congestion.

On laned highways drivers are required to stay within boundaries of a single lane and to use especial caution in turning from it. The rule prohibits the awkward practice of a single driver occupying the right half of the road in such manner that only one driver may be accommodated where there is room for two. It prohibits monopoly of other lanes by slow-moving drivers and makes more space available for faster drivers.

The rule provides that on three-laned highways the center lane shall be used only for overtaking and that drivers must return to the right-most lane as soon as possible.

Dr. McClintock will comment daily on the new highway rules in the columns of the Boston Evening American.

POWER PAPERS SURRENDERED

Macon, Ga., Oct. 30—Less than an hour after he heard a threat of jail sentence for failure to comply with a federal court order, William J. Lavarre, associate of Harold Hall in the purchase of four Georgia and South Carolina newspapers signed a proxy surrendering stock in three of the papers to J. T. Webb, court commissioner.

Lavarre was ordered by Judge Deaver to surrender the stock of three of the newspapers, purchased with money advanced by the International Paper & Power Co., on a petition for direction brought by Webb. The court commissioner already has in his custody the stock certificates of the fourth paper, the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, which has been operated by his associate, Hall.

ALCOHOL FOUND IN GRAPE JUICE GOULD LIKED

St. Louis, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Colony Vintage Company, a distributor of grape juice and defendant in a breach of contract suit in federal court last July, charging the product failed to come up to promises, was raided by United States prohibition agents.

A quantity of grape juice, which James Dillon, deputy prohibition administrator, said tested as high as 9.7 per cent alcohol, was seized, as well as jamaica ginger and other alcoholic extracts.

Included in the grape juice seizures were two kegs of 30 gallons each which bore the name of Walter Damrosch, New York city and was labelled Moselle grape juice. The labels noted each keg was costing the purchaser $112.50. Dillon said he believed the shipment was meant for the noted musical director.

William Davis, president of the company, was ordered to appear before U. S. Commissioner Burke to give bond.

In federal court last July Davis showed a letter from United States Senator Arthur P. Gould of Maine in which Gould stated he was obtaining results from a cask of the Colony Vintage Company product and expected it to turn into wine.

Check Photograph Ends Damage Suit

Newark, N. J., Oct. 30—The practice of the New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company of Newark in photographing all checks it handles, brought an abrupt end to a $10,000 damage suit.

Ira Scharf, counsel for a building and loan association, brought suit against the bank charging it had paid a $9135 check on a forged indorsement. A photograph of the check introduced in court showed that it was not indorsed when cashed. Scharf dropped the suit.

TASTE!

An official South American commission reports Chesterfield's blend as the "most desirable." In the Canal Zone, that international crossroads, Chesterfield is far and away the favorite. "Wild Parents" Are Blamed

'Flaming Youth' Topic at Mothers' Parley

Miss Mary E. Wooley, president of Mount Holyoke College, thinks speedy romances end in divorce.

VARIOUS contributions were made to the Mothercraft and Child Welfare Conference at the Copley-Plaza pertinent to the future of American morals and marriages and religious influences. Chief among the statements were these:

That hasty marriages are responsible for much of the divorce.

That colleges have fostered intelligent and carefully considered marriages.

That "wild parties" must be tamed if the younger generation is to come down to earth.

That "young people" aren't so "awful."

That "buck passing" must stop if religion is to influence the lives of the growing boys and girls. Religion is up to the parents not to the church.

That the future of America depends on the homes, the responsibility for which belongs to the mother.

Distinguished women and one clergymen contributed to the conference which was sponsored by the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Miss Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, thought it fortunate that college girls hesitated a bit before marriage. She deplored the accusation as false that colleges were training girls away from the home.

In an address on "The College Girl in Relation to the Home," Miss Woolley outlined fully the way in which colleges prepared girls for home life.

"The sum total of usefulness and happiness has been greatly increased by the growth in careers for women," she said, "and I may add the homes of most of these women have furthered rather than detracted from the home ideal."

It was true, Miss Woolley said, that college girls hesitated a bit before saying "yes," matrimonially, but this she lauded rather than censured.

HITS HASTY MARRIAGE

"It is not a misfortune that college women in general have learned to look upon marriage from an angle not commercial, namely the securing of a home. Marriage in haste helps to fill the divorce courts, and one great social service rendered by the colleges has been along the line of more carefully considered and intelligent marriages.

"In this sphere, as in so many others, quality rather than quantity is the desideratum. I should add that this does not mean a decreasing popularity of marriage among college women. That is by no means the case.

"One needs but to look upon my desk and find the great many invitations to weddings that await my acceptance to prove the continued popularity of marriage among college women.

"The courses offered show what part the college plays in preparing the girl for home. There is child psychology which speaks for itself. The department of chemistry gives a course in food values, but in addition to that in the course in general there is the acquirements of habits aiding the future homemakers.

"Physiology prepares directly for homemaking. There is zoology and then physical education, the aims of which are to fit women for the responsibilities in the home and community demanding of them alertness, initiative and imagination. And, then, too, the social sciences and the humanities and the department of religion."

HOME MUST CHANGE

That the content of the home life must change as the world is moulded by newly acquired scientific knowledge was particularly stressed by Mrs. John Sherman, former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and now national head of the American Home Department of the Federation, who came from Colorado to Boston to deliver her address on "What's Wrong With the Home and Woman's Greatest Responsibility."

"It is a tremendous task being a 20th Century homemaker," she began. "The home is passing through a radical transition period right now. The entire social order is changing, and changing more rapidly than ever. This change of social fibre and the lack of time in which to properly readjust the home, is reason for so many home failures.

"The content of home life must be changed to meet the new world as it is being moulded by scientific knowledge. This must be done if the home is to retain its place in the world fabric proportionate to its worth.

"The right use of leisure is by far more important to people than planning industries. It deserves a seat in a university. We hear a great deal of criticism of our young people of their disrespect, their disobedience and their selfishness. We hear they are disillusioned, and we know they are; that they are terribly frank and intolerant of their parents.

"And who is responsible for this? The parents, of course. Have they given the young boys and girls absolute honesty in action and in speech and in example? A religious leadership in the broadest sense? Have they set a loyal example of obedience to the established laws of the country? Have they given the love and comradeship that is understanding?

CONSCIENCE VITAL

"Until they do this let them hesitate before they criticize and condemn their boys and girls. Two things are important in the home life, the necessity of teaching that accuracy of statement is vital, and the development of a conscience.

"To women still remains the duty of protecting and keeping alive the light of love and faith and belief. Her devotion has not ceased. Maybe the form is changed.

"The most powerful influence for the development of morality and character of the younger generation is the mother. Neither school, church, teacher nor minister can do the job as can the mother. The whole hope of future life in America is contained within the walls and remember, dear friends, this responsibility is the woman's."

The Sunday before Thanksgiving Day is to be celebrated as American Home Day, Mrs. Sherman told the conference. Clubwomen are urged to have their ministers preach sermons this day on "Religious Training in the Home," a new feature sponsored by the General Federation.

Another staunch supporter of young people was Dr. Russel Henry Stafford of the Old South Church who blessed them as the "thinking part of the congregation."

"Our wild young people are going to get wilder if our wild older people don't tame down," he predicted. "If you are to help the young people then don't pass the buck to us in the church. They are your children. We are here. We want to help. The church school is there and modern. But it won't mean a thing if you don't let the children see that religion means something to you."

Mrs. May Dickinson Bliss Kimball, chairman of the State department presided at the conference, introducing the speakers and special guests among whom were Mrs. Lucy B. Franklin of Boston University; Dr. M. Luise Diez of the State Department of Public Health; Mrs. Azel A. Packard, State president, New Hampshire State Federation; Mrs. John T. Skolfield, president, Maine Federation, Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, General Federation director; Mrs. Grace Morrison Pole, General Federation first vice-president; Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, General Federation membership chairman.

Mrs. Lauren L. McMaster, chairman of the new American Home Department, was introduced and Mrs. Miner H. Evans, assistant to Mrs. Kimball, told of mothercraft work in the schools.

NEWS-VIEWS OF MODERN HOMES

FINE POINTS OF MODERN HOMES

By BETTY BONNELL

Betty Bonnell

"HOW I wish!"

It seems to be the complaint of so many housewives that their homes are possessed of too few electrical outlets that so often hamper them in bringing them new conveniences and decorations into their homes.

Perhaps you, too, have often said, "How I wish we had an outlet" at this point, or that spot—just where you could place a lovely lamp or connect a convenient electric iron.

I can't urge you enough to have a competent electrician install those handy outlets—and plenty of them. Today, there are so many wonderful electric servants eager to save you time and labor, that it's really unfair to deny yourself their many conveniences, all because you lack enough well placed outlets.

No modern home is complete without at least four outlets in every room. take the kitchen as example. All one has to do is to look at the list of wonderful appliances that are designed to ease one's housework. Ironers, toasters, percolators, refrigerators, washing machines, waffle irons, cooking dishes—all electrical! Yet their use is so limited when you have but one or two outlets available.

Take living rooms and bedrooms. With the modern craze for lamps, you simply must have outlets at every convenient point or suffer the inconvenience of dragging wires across the floor from distant outlets. Besides, with two or three lamps drawing "juice" from the same outlet, it means that you must use bulky double or triple sockets, which occasionally prove a nuisance.

I admit that there is an expense attached to rewiring the house in order to provide enough outlets, but if your home is to be all that you are so eager to make it, then such a step is a necessity.

LITERATURE on standard materials and products used in the construction of Modern Homes will be sent to you, if you will check the subjects that interest you and mail to the National Modern Homes Bureau, Inc., Real Estate Dept., Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

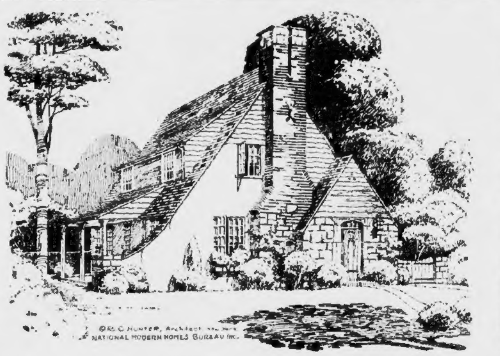
Cozy Cottage, Costing $9600



©R. C. HUNTER, Architect
NATIONAL MODERN HOMES BUREAU INC.

ONE glance is enough to convince you that this small cottage, A-192, is without a rival. Five rooms more conveniently arranged and more cleverly housed will be difficult to find.

The low sweeping roof lines add a feeling of breadth to the exterior and tend to tie the house to the ground.

The sturdy stone entrance gable possesses fine English character and forms an ideal setting for the heavy oak door. The large stone and brick chimney has been nicely fitted into the composition, forming a union between the entrance gable and the gable end of the house. The driveway gates, painted a bright blue, are a note of interest.

As one enters through the front door a good-sized vestibule, with ample closet space, ends any feeling of crampiness. From the vestibule one finds the living room, of good size and proportions. The large open fireplace flanked by a group of steel casement windows with flowers outside, forms an interesting feature in this room.

The dining room is of ample size and well lighted. Both the living room and dining room enter on an open porch. A convenient kitchen with closet and rear entry complete the first floor layout.

On the second floor are two nice bedrooms, a bath and ample closet space.

The laundry and heating plant are located in the cellar.

The house will fit on a lot with 50-foot frontage. It contains 20,206 cubic feet and would cost approximately $9600 to build.

Realty Sold for Medical Center

Isabella H. Hobart has sold to the Boston Floating Hospital the property at 18 Ash st., Boston, consisting of 1000 sq. ft. of land and a two-story and basement building, assessed for $4500.

The Boston Floating Hospital and the Boston Dispensary now own the entire block frontage on the easterly side of Ash st. between Nassau and Bennett sts., to be used for the New England Medical Center.

The sale was negotiated through C. W. Whittier & Bro.

Papers Passed in Brookline Sale

Henry W. Savage, Inc., reports that final papers have passed in the sale of the property at 228 Wolcott rd., Brookline, consisting of a single, two and one-half story house, two-car garage and 14,500 sq. ft. of land.

The property is assessed for $9,700. Mrs. Alice G. Stueber gave title to Dr. Martin Spellman, who, after alterations, will occupy the premises as his residence.

OLD NEWPORT NAVAL STATOIN DISMANTLED

With the dismantling of the Coddington Point Naval Training Station at Newport, there comes an opportunity for home owners throughout New England to secure equipment and fixtures that are in first-class condition.

Coddington Point Naval Station, just prior to this country entering the war and during our participation in the world conflict, was a buzzing center of activity, where a great many thousands of men were trained in the ways of sailors preparatory to active service on the high seas.

These men had to be housed and kept comfortable, and the quarters that were erected by the government as an encampment were modern in every respect. These are the houses and quarters that are now being dismantled and disposed of to the public.

Hundreds of men are now busy in the "deserted city" at Coddington Point where thousands were busy ten years ago. But the activity today, however, is peacetime work and is being carried on under the direction of R. A. Grossman of Quincy, Mass., to whom the government contract was awar

180,000 EXPECTED TO VOTE AT BOSTON MAYORALTY ELECTION

CANDIDATES SPICING UP CAMPAIGN

Rallies for All Three Well Attended as Contest Enters Upon Final Stage

By ELIAS McQUAID.

James M Curley will return tonight to the hunting ground of old, his native Roxbury, and the Curley campaign will hit its stride.

Facing old neighbors, the friends of his boyhood and young manhood, Mr. Curly may be expected to show his opponents that if he has thus far taken anything "lying down," in this campaign, that sort of thing has come to an end.

One thousand people climbed three flights of stairs to Roughan Hall, in City sq. Charlestown last night, to hear Daniel H. Coakley on his favorite subjects (1) Public Ownership of the Boston Elevated, (2) Schoolhouse Graft, and (3) James M Curley.

Coakley is putting on the best entertainment of the campaign. One of his rallies is a combination of Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West's minstrels, Harrigan & Hart, and an evening with Shakespeare.

There was a time when no man could go into Roughan Hall and say the things about Mr. Curley which Mr Coakley said last night and get away with it. Coakley commented on that fact and gave his own explanation of it. He said it proved, to his satisfaction, that Curley no longer has a following among the people, that he has been turned away from them by social and material success, and that today he has "only the leaders" with him.

"Leaders, by the way," Mr Coakley explained, "who have no followers along the route they have taken in this campaign."

Mr Coakley's only speech tonight will be delivered in the auditorium of the Teachers' College in Huntington ave. He will appear there at 8 o'clock sharp, having a radio engagement at 10 p. m.

The first of the candidates to discuss race and religion in the campaign is Frederick W. Mansfield, former State treasurer, who at last night's meetings gave the names of his parents as Michael and Catherine McDonough Mansfield and proclaimed himself a Roman Catholic.

"Not a professional Catholic," Mr. Mansfield said, "but a Roman Catholic."

The Good Government candidate apologized to 1000 hearers in the hall of Teachers' College at 11.30 o'clock for bringing into a political campaign questions which always have been looked upon as politically taboo.

"And I do so," he said, "only because the evidence is piling up that the Poison Squad is at work with the same sort of poison that was used several years ago against John R. Murphy.

"The question of a man's race and religion has no place whatever in American politics. Fitness for office should depend upon the ability of a man, the soundness of his character, his training and fitness, the condition of his mind and of his health, what we know of his private life and what we can learn of his public and professional record. I take it for granted that the aspirant for office is first of all a good American.

REVERTS TO CURLEY

"But I discover that, dropping an insinuation of one sort here, and a hint of another character there, the Poison Squad is out. And, it being my way to meet every attack fairly and squarely, I do not hesitate to state publicly that both of my good parents were born in Ireland and that I am a Roman Catholic."

Having said this much, and having told of a recent visit to the cots in which his parents were born—the one in Waterford and the other in Roscommon—Mr Mansfield turned to the matters he has been discussing from the beginning. These included, of course in favor of public ownership of the Elevated.

Former Mayor Curley, at his Tuesday night rallies, continued to talk city business, public improvements. He reviewed the major achievements of his former terms in City Hall and discussed plans for the next four years.

Twice last night, however, Jim the Gentleman removed the kid gloves and went after Mansfield with bare hands. He used two-dollar words once in a while but the manner was that of the James the Bold we knew when the world was younger.

The subject was Mr Mansfield's long service as State House attorney for the American Federation of Labor, Massachusetts State Branch and some of the claims that have been made as bearing out of that employment.

Said Mr Curley:

"An unsigned communication states that Mr Mansfield drew the 8-hour law, the 54-hour law for women and children, the 9-in-11 hour for street car men and the law permitting peaceful persuasion during strikes.

"Not content with making these declarations, all of which are false, the author includes them in a booklet.

"The statement as adroitly and slyly written conveys the impression that Mansfield was the author of these measures. An examination at the office of the Secretary of State discloses that the name of Mr. Mansfield does not appear in connection with a single one of the Labor laws for which he claims authorship.

"The eight hour law for public employees did not originate in Massachusetts, Congress having enacted an eight-hour law for Government employees in 1868, some nine years before Mr. Mansfield was born. Fifteen states other than Massachusetts enacted laws limiting the hours of labor to eight hours prior to action by the legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"The eight hour bill was introduced in 1911 by Rep Joe Parks of Fall River, upon the petition of John Weaver Sherman. The first eight-hour law for public employees was introduced in 1888 by Daniel J Driscoll of Chicopee, a member of the Legislature at that time, so that the records clearly show that Mr Mansfield had nothing to do with this enactment.

"The 54-hour law for women and children was petitioned for by the Women's Trade Union League and [illegible] The 54-hour bill was finally adopted by the Senate in 1919. [illegible] Joseph J. Benson of [illegible] who was a member of the Carpenters' Union and upon this bill the late lamented James H. Vahey appeared representing organized labor, so that the adoption of the law cannot be honestly credited to Mr Mansfield.

PICKETING BILL

"The peaceful persuasion bill, sometimes called the peaceful picketing bill, was introduced by Rep John J Conway of Boston in 1913.

"It is difficult for the ordinary citizen to understand how Mr Mansfield can take to himself credit for humane, progressive legislation in the enactment of which he had no part."

What this all means is that Mr Mansfield will be called upon to explain just how the Labor bills were drafted. That will keep him busy for an hour or two, for he is a painstaking and methodical chap, and for that hour, at least, he cannot be talking about something else.

Will Mr. Curley feel badly about that? I ask you.

[illegible] be at it again hammer and tongs at 8 p m.

Come early and avoid the rush.

And bring your own pencils, [illegible] and figure out the outcome for yourselves.

The task is too much for a boy reporter.

POLITICAL NOTES

A LENGTHY letter is at hand from the Berkeley st. office of the Building Trades Council, bearing the signature of Secretary-Treasurer E. A Johnson, the point of which is that the Council endorses the candidacy of James M. Curley for mayor.

The Building Trades Council, the letter says, will advocate and support the candidacy of Mr Curley and "use every effort to bring about his election."

The B. T. C. includes blacksmiths, the carpenters, electrical workers, gasfitters, laborers, lathers, painters, paperhangers, plasterers, plumbers, sign writers, steam fitters, teamsters and many other tradesmen.

Dr Charles E. Mackey of South Boston, candidate for the School Committee, "charges" that the Women's Educational Industrial Union, "composed for the greater part of non-residents drawing large salaries," has a monopoly on lunchrooms in the Boston schools.

"They are social has-beens," the Doctor says, "and are allied with the Public School Association."

Nothing is said about the quality of the food.

THE Women's Division of the Curley Campaign Committee announces a banquet and Halloween Party to be held this evening in the grand ball room of the Elks Hotel. Tickets at $2.00 each, the charge per plate, may be had at the Women's headquarters, Hotel Bellevue. Entertainers will be provided from the theaters. Mr. Curley, Mr. Fitzgerald, Congressman McCormack and Congressman Douglass will make five-minute talks.

Henry M. Russell, secretary of the Republican League of Ward 1, East Boston, signs a statement to the effect that a majority of the members of that organization have requested him to announce their advocacy of Mr. Curley's election.

The Russell announcement begins by stating that "by virtue of its charter" the R. L. of Ward One is "prohibited from endorsing candidates for public office." In view of that fact, the only comment which suggests itself is "Yeah?"

WHAT has been said about the failure of school committee candidates to discuss education does not apply to Atty. Nyman H. Kolodny, who believes Boston needs a City College in which boys and girls could get a college education at nominal expense.

Mr Kolodny would get rid of the portable school and have luncheons provided by a municipal commissary.

Here is one school committee candidate whose mind does not appear to be centered upon the payroll and the votes which go with it.

anything except supreme confidence.

The inner circle of the Curleyites continue to talk of "Jim's" coming out of this battle with a plurality of [illegible]. Some of the more heated among them raise that figure by 100,000.

While I believe that Mr. Curley is out in front in this contest, and safely so—and this, in large part, because the anti-Curley vote is to be split between two opponents—I believe the figures I have quoted to be first-class specimens of a form of nutology.

And when I witness such a Coakley show as the Brighton man put on last night in Charlestown and then go far out into Huntington ave to find 1000 men and women sitting up until 11.30 to listen to Mansfield, I am not at all confident of my guess as to the outcome.

All I really know is that there are 271,661 names on the voting list.

I guess that maybe 180,000 of them will go to the polling places next Tuesday. Some of the politicians say this figure is much too low. Other gentlemen are sure there is little or no interest in the contest, and that hence the figure is way too high. Take your choice.

In one hall, last night, I was told that many of the Republican ward organizations are and will be for Mr. Curley's long public career and the Mansfield question. "Hasn't Curley had enough?"

Always a good campaigner, the former mayor shows no sign of Curley. In another, the tip was that the Democratic politicians who hang so closely to the former mayor's coat-tails will be "unable to deliver." Take your choice, again.

What I KNOW is that the Coakley and Mansfield rallies draw big crowds, that these speakers are cheered and applauded and that in the Coakley and Mansfield followings—more especially among the followers of Mansfield—I begin to see more and more Democrats who have served in the past as legislators or in city government.

"Dan" Coakley's talk last night seemed to have been arranged to suit what the candidate thought might be the taste of his audience. He talked of "Curley the cop," and Curley "putting the copper's badge on," referring to the ex-mayor's endeavor to have Coakley's name stricken from the ballot, the prosecution of F. W. Enwright and other incidents.

Coakley was funniest when he belittled Mr. Curley's alleged claim to be the best friend of Governor Smith in these parts, and spoke of the Smith portrait in the window of Curley's headquarters bearing the governor's signature.

"That photograph," said Daniel, "was sent to Senator David I. Walsh, and originally was on view in Senator Walsh's room. It was there two days—and then it disappeared. I don't know how it disappeared, or who 'disappeared' it, and I don't pretend to say. All I know is that Mike Ward dropped in there one day, and that Mike writes a beautiful hand, is really a superb penman."

On the serious side, Mr Coakley came out more strongly than ever

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Thin, Run-down Mother Quickly Gains 5 lbs.

"I gained 5 lbs. while taking Ironized Yeast," writes Mrs. George Decker. "That means quite a bit as my folks are both thin. What I prize most is the difference in the way I feel and the pep I have. Before I took Ironized Yeast I had to hire a girl to help me with any hard work. But now I do all my housecleaning alone."

People who had tried everything else in vain write how they gained 5 to 15 lbs. in a few weeks. Skinny limbs quickly round into chubby curves. Pimply skin clears up. Tired feeling vanishes.

Only when Yeast is IRONIZED is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. Never cause gas or bloating, safe—no harmful drugs.

Go to any druggist today and get a full-size treatment of Ironized Yeast. Take it regularly as directed. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with weight and health benefits gained, your money promptly refunded by druggist or manufacturer.

CHAPTER 15

Goodbye

ONCE again the little village of Saint-Vallier was rocked with excitement. The streets seethed with crowds. From houses and barns where they had been quartered, poured soldiers. Non-commissioned officers ran about, busily superintending preparations to depart. Horses were hitched up. Guns and caissons swung into line. The streets rang with [illegible] and team [illegible].

The Devil Americans were going away. No more would fat Madame La Motte grumble as she picked her way around dice games played in the middle of the sidewalk.

No more would [illegible] children gather in groups before the cafe and listen to the [illegible] of that beautiful national anthem "Hinky Dinky Parley Voo."

No more would [illegible] grinning Americans tease and flirt with pretty little French girls.

The show was over. The curtain was being rung down.

Out at the old Espard farm, the barnyard was a turmoil of departure. Khaki figures busy rolling guns, hitching horses, whistling, shouting.

Their voices floated in at the windows, echoed in the kitchen, where tight-lipped and silent Marianne went about the daily tasks [illegible]

"I'm in favor of shootin' him [illegible] grimmer answer. "Let's [illegible] him an' take [illegible] place."

"Cheer up, boy. You're goin' back to the land of ham an' eggs. An' could I punch a stack of wheats! Boy, ask me! I'm goin' to spend all my back pay in armchair lunch rooms—

"Home! Say, I'll bet there's a catch somewhere. I can't believe we're goin' home."

Neither could she believe it—the girl who worked silently about the kitchen.

Impossible to believe that this joyful confusion would end abruptly. Tramping feet . . . growing fainter . . . The last glimpse of khaki files. And after that—the empty years. Growing old, with her heart. Only memories to help her through the years . . .

Ah, God! God! Madness surging in her breast. Beating in her brain. Hot—terrible— She tore the 'kerchief from her neck as though she stifled. She flung her arms wide, hooked fingers tearing the [illegible]

She [illegible] to the window. Swallowed. Spoke in that same toneless voice.

"Ils s'apretent a partir, Andre. Les chevaux sont attelas aux canons."

This was to be her role all her life [illegible] to be eyes for Andre. Andre who had given his sight for France.

Crush down her heart . . . hold back her tears. . . . Forget herself . . . Ah! that would be easy if she could forget the ache in Stag's heart. . . .

To know that he would be wanting her—knowing this same hopeless longing—that was what made her spirit faint.

Jacques, flattening his nose on the window pane beside her, gave a little crow of delight.

"Ah! there is M'sieur Stag. I want to be strong like him when I grow up. He can lift me with one hand, so easy! I'll wager he could lift you, Marianne, so strong he is."

Andre had risen and groped his way to her. Now he stood, looking over her shoulder, eyes wide, as though he would force them to see.

"Stag—That is the man of whom the children speak so much—and of whom you never speak, Marianne."

She laughed that she might not cry. Surely Andre must hear the pounding of her heart!

"Ah, so many soldiers running in and out all the time. How shall one tell one from the other, Andre! This, this Stag, he has been very kind to the children."

"He is a sergeant?"

The little choking noise she made might be taken for a laugh. "Ah non! He is, he is the doughboy who won the war . . ."

Jacques' voice rose in a crescendo of excitement. "He comes M'sieur Stag! He is coming across [illegible] He is coming here!"

He clattered across the wooden floor to open the door while the whitefaced girl shrunk away from the window.

Stag stood in the doorway. He had lifted Jacques and over the frantically clinging arms the grey eyes plunged deep into the girl's stricken gaze.

"We're going to move on now. I came to say goodby."

Wonder Dog Dies Heart-Broken at Master's Absence

SORROWED WHEN LEFT ALONE

Refused to Eat Even After His Master Returned Home

He was only a dog was "Fellows," but he was dead from a broken heart today in West Newton.

The German shepherd, whose reputation for canine intelligence was nation-wide, understood more than 500 words whose meaning had been taught him by his master, Jacob Herbert, of Waltham st., West Newton.

Only two years ago the dog, then five years old, was examined by the animal psychologist at Columbia University and was pronounced one of the most intelligent dogs in the world.

This examination was followed by publicity in the [illegible], the London News and many American newspapers.

Four weeks ago his master, called away on business, left "Fellows" with a friend in New York. When he returned from his trip, he found the animal in poor condition and was told by the friend that the dog seemed disconsolate and refused to eat.

With sorrowful mien the shepherd greeted his master on his return but continued to sorrow over his being left alone so long.

Today he was dead and Herbert declared that never again will he attempt to train a dog to the point of intelligence achieved by Fellows.

PRICE OF FISH STAYS HIGH

Fish prices remained high at the Fish Pier today when another small day saw only 15 vessels at the opening mart.

Five steam trawlers and 10 schooners reported catches totaling 506,000 pounds. Most of the catch was gathered on South Channel fishing grounds with two of the team vessels coming from Georges Bank.

No mackerel seiners reported but the steam trawler Loon had 300 pounds in her holds in addition to her regular groundfish catch.

Heavy weather and thick fogs on the banks were the reason many of the fleet failed to return to the pier with catches. Many of them lay to for days, unable to do any real fishing on account of the weather.

Wholesalers today quoted the following prices:

Large cod 10 to 11 cents, market cod 7 to 8, haddock 10½ to 11, pollock 4 to 5, hake 8 to 9, cusk 7 to 8, lemon soles 16 to 17, gray soles 14 to 15 and flounders 7 to [illegible] cents.

Revere Man Held in Theft of Bonds

John Foley, 24, of Summer st., Lynn, in Lynn court today was held in $2500 for the grand jury on charges of breaking and entering and larceny and having burglars tools in his possession.

According to the police he broke into a Summer st. house and in the room of John Ward unlocked a strong box and abstracted from it a quantity of bonds and $80 in cash.

N. Y. CLUE TO MISSING BOY

Portland, Oct. 30 (AP) Belief that Francis W. Allen, missing Colby College freshman and son of Harrison Allen of Waterbury, Ct., is in New York city or Buffalo was expressed today by Capt. Charles A. Radley of the barge Enterprise, now in port here.

Allen visited Capt. Radley's sons, Burton 21, and Kenneth, 17, aboard the Enterprise over last week end. They became acquainted at the summer home of the Allen family at Tenant's Harbor this year.

The three boys left here Monday morning in Allen's automobile for Waterville, where Allen packed his belongings and told his roommate, Rupert L. Loring, that he was going west. Capt. Radley said the trio called at Bath, where he believes, Kenneth withdrew his funds from a bank.

Illness Delays Ship Conference

The conference between ship operators and longshoremen, scheduled today, was postponed until Friday due to the illness of Charles Stewart of the Cunard line, chairman of the operators' committee.

At the meeting the agents for the shipping firms are to be told the decisions of three union locals on proposals arrived at last week on new working agreements at this port.

Women Urged to Vote Down Animal Traps

"The trapping of fur-bearing animals by means of the common steel trap is one of the outstanding [illegible] cities of this age," said Edward Noble, managing director of the Anti-Steel Trap League, addressing Massachusetts League of Women Voters in the Copley Plaza today.

Mr. Noble urged the women to favor abolition of the common steel trap, now the subject of an initiative petition.

"An animal caught in a steel trap suffers excruciating agony," he said. "The leg is crushed and torn and the period of acute suffering persists for hours. It suffers from hunger and thirst and [illegible] [illegible] Many [illegible] [illegible]

The [illegible] sponsors [illegible] are not against the [illegible] as such nor do they oppose wearing furs provided the animals can be taken in a humane manner. This is not a movement sponsored by cranks. Fifty years of so-called education having failed to do away with this monstrous evil, sponsors are now resorting [illegible]

"Objection to the measure when it was before the Legislature came principally from the fur trade and the farmers, also from certain sportsmen. The objection of the fur trade is understandable. The furriers fear that abolition of the steel trap would be the death of the fur business. However, that would not necessarily follow [illegible]

FARMERS' OBJECTIONS

"The objection of the farmer is an entirely valid one and I think we have [illegible] fully met it. It so happens that the fur-bearing animals [illegible] in Massachusetts [illegible] largely vermin, such as the fox, skunk, weasel, mink, etc. This bill gives the farmer the right to set traps of any kind [illegible] allowed by law within 50 yards of [illegible] cultivated land [illegible] skunk and [illegible] two species [illegible] poultry.

The Prince of Holbrook, who saved a life is to be decorated.

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Animal Rescue League will award the medals.

In Holbrook a week ago Monday, Prince rushed onto the tracks of the New Haven railroad and pulled to safety little Ileane Depson, who had decided the ties between the rails made a good place to sit down.

The train crew and workmen nearly witnessed the rescue and Prince, half collie, half shepherd, will be all glory with his medals.

Banish Constipation With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Constipation is a widespread evil. Many have it but do not realize it. In spite of [illegible] laxatives it does its deadly work, sending poisons through the body, undermining health [illegible]

The first signs of constipation are headaches [illegible] feeling, spots before the eyes, sallow complexions. Don't neglect these symptoms. Start eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It brings sure relief and prevents constipation.

Thousands have regained their health with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Doctors recommend it. Because it is 100% bran it brings 100% results. Part bran products are only "part" effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. You'll like its crispness and flavor.

Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking. Recipes are on the package for muffins and breads. Sold by all grocers. Served by hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

[illegible] Guadalajara, Mex., [illegible] word today that Miguel Ahumada, [illegible] of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and member of a prominent Mexican family, is under arrest on the charge of slaying his fiancee.

The victim was Senorita Tina [illegible], society belle of Guadalajara, and Ahumada is alleged to have confessed to friends that he stabbed her to death.

At first they refused to place any credence in the young man's statements, but eventually notified police, who found the girl's body.

According to police, Ahumada had been under the influence of drugs. He is a son of the former governor of the State of Jalisco.

Ahumada was graduated at Tech in 1906. He belonged to the Delta Upsilon fraternity. He studied mining engineering and did post graduate work in 1907. Nothing had been heard from Ahumada since he left the college, either by former classmates or by his fraternity until word came of the tragedy.

Enjoy This Protection It Goes with Every Bottle

You may have asked yourself "how can Hood's know just what every cow on every farm is producing in the way of quality milk?" It's a big job, nevertheless, we do know, and here's how we manage:

The advance guard in this system are the inspectors. Practical, trained milk experts who drive the roads from farm to farm keeping a watchful eye on everything that affects Hood's Milk. Next come the veterinaries, professional men graduates of the best schools. They look after the cows. Then the Hood laboratory where the milk from every farm is regularly submitted to the most searching scrutiny.

Bacteriologists examine it through powerful microscopes. Chemists weigh the total solids, check up the butter fat content, its purity and its cleanliness. If the first line and the second line have missed anything, here is a guard it cannot pass. The laboratory's "yes" or "no" is final. You may enjoy this protection, without cost, with every bottle of

While auditors were examining the books of the Boston Elevated today in a check-up of a reported shortage the finger of suspicion was directed at employes.

Officials of the company have interrogated one employe and are prepared to question relatives of another person.

Meanwhile General Manager Dana declared it would be several days before the actual amount of the shortage is known. The tentative figure has been set at $17,000.

Dana's statement follows.

"A shortage of not more than $17,000 has been discovered in the accounts of one of the departments of the Boston Elevated railway. The shortage is fully covered by insurance. The matter is being fully investigated by a bonding company and on that account, it is decided inadvisable to make any further statement at this time."

PAZO OINTMENT

You feel really safe for hours

when you depend on Kotex for sanitary protection

What a relief to know there's one pad that protects in every possible way, though worn for hours.

THERE are so many ways in which a sanitary pad should protect—and Kotex has not overlooked one.

Kotex protects you from embarrassment . . . because it is deodorized, and because its round, tapered corners keep it inconspicuous.

Absorbs more than cotton

Kotex protects delicate clothing because it is made of the most absorptive substance possible. This is Cellucotton absorbent wadding, which actually absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture! Five times more than cotton or any cotton material.

[illegible]

And how important that is! Kotex never packs, cannot chafe. It stays soft and delicate for hours . . . because it is made of air-cooled layers of Cellucotton.

Preferred by hospitals

There's no more striking testimony to the superiority of Kotex filler than this: 85% of the leading hospitals use Kotex filler in preference to anything else! They prefer it for its wonderful absorption, and its unusual comfort.

Please read about other Kotex features at the right. You'll see that no refinement of comfort has been overlooked.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

3—Fastidious . . . the sign of true daintiness.

4—In bospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

MONARCH'S TOTTERING THRONE AGAIN SAVED BY AMERICAN DOLLARS

OLD STORY IS MADE MODERN

THE CAST

Lucretti	William Dorbon
Scarlotti	Henry Morrell
Count Churak	Charles Fadale
Georges, ex-King of Constantia-Felix	WILLIAM FAVERSHAM
Princess Lydia	Katharine Kohler
Miss Bridgerton	Daisy Atherton
Mrs. Alfred Hastings	Ara Gerald
Prince Otto	Theodore St. John
A Maid	Peggy Hovenden
Phelps	Edmund Dalby

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

UPON more than one occasion the American dollar has given first aid to tottering kingdoms. In good old pre-war days the writer of romance turned the idea into best-sellers and kept book shops on the jump. That was long before a benevolent old gentleman with goatee and striped trousers began to be referred to in Continental circles as Uncle Shylock.

NOW for the good of the drama and the amusement of those who believe that romance still lives, you are invited to meet William Faversham in "Her Friend the King" at the Apollo. It's the same old story, revised to meet post war conditions. There is no clash of sabers at the castle gates, only a lively American widow doing her best to have a discarded king replaced on a throne that not only tottered but seems to have come down in a crash. As in all such pretty stories, royalty and commoner meet on easy grounds. The king, you see, is out of a job and making the most of it in a Swiss chalet.

Nicholas Young

FROM Harrison Rhodes' novel, A. E. Thomas has written a comedy of considerable charm; something to take for relaxation after a spree on musical revue, extravaganza and what not. Mr. Faversham makes it an easy moving comedy of polite manners and cheerful conversation. If you are spared the blatant heroics usually worked up in affairs where the rescuer is a dashing ex-fullback (all America), and the rescued a lovely princess, you are not denied breezy passages on the general subject of how a king can live without funds and what can be done about it.

MR. FAVERSHAM in the role of Georges, former ruler of Constantia-Felix, is a courtly, amiable loafer. Not a bad sort at all, and devoted to a charming daughter. There are early signs that both would like to get out of the royalty business if it could be arranged gracefully and on decent terms. Therein lies the story, for the third richest woman (or widow) in America, being a loyal friend, secretly stacks her millions on the king to the consternation and confusion of all the jacks and deuces in the deck.

IN the final triumph of the American dollar, the gracious lady holds hands with the king and you know all is well. There is promise of a new kind of queen in Constantia. In the meantime a secondary romance provides Princess Lydia and her young man with much to talk about. That, too, irons itself out in good order.

MR. FAVERSHAM, with many seasons of hard experience behind him, has faced more exacting tasks than those laid down in "Her Friend the King." He does, however, make excellent use of the material at hand. A master of good diction, he gives authority to his lines; not for a moment is he out of step with the character. Upon the businesslike Mr. Hastings, Ara Gerald bestows beauty, charm and a rare sense of comedy. The thoughtful playgoer may well take note of the talents that surely will escort this excellent player to high places in the theater.

IN their own way, bubbling with youth, Katharine Kohler and Theodore St. John conduct a lively love affair. This perhaps, is the most natural incident in the play. Daisy Atherton, severe and English, plays the governess thoroughly and amusingly.

Rogers to Start Another

Will Rogers is preparing for his next audible film. The tentative title is: "By the Way, Bill." William Howard has been assigned to direct the picture, which is an adaptation of an original story by Ben Ames Williams.

MACK SENNETT'S COMEBACK TO BE VIA TALKIE ROUTE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

Copyright, 1929, [illegible]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Mack Sennett, who has been pretty well out of pictures these last few years, is about to make a talkie. Not that Mack is broke. He has enough of his fortune put away to keep the hungry wolf from prowling around, even when the picture business isn't so good. The creator of the Keystone cops and the custard pie epics made his mistake when he started to go serious. No one wanted Mack Sennett to do a heavy drama. There are plenty of people in the world who can do that. The world wanted his ludicrous cops and custard farces.

Louella O. Parsons

Sennett's first talkie will be a prohibition story, and let's hope it is not propaganda; let's pray that Mack does give us some of his old-time comedies. The fact that Harry Gribbon has been signed for an important part is promising, for Gribbon specializes in comedy. Olive Hardy and Stan Laurel prove that people do like slapstick comedy. They have the best sellers among comedies today, and their pictures are nothing but a revival of the old-time Mack Sennett idea.

THE way they do things here in New York is nobody's business. Carmel Myers reached here Sunday afternoon. Within an hour after she stepped off the train she had signed a contract to appear at the Palace Theater next Sunday. After she put her name on the dotted line it suddenly came to her that at least she ought to have an act. When a girl is on her honeymoon, like Carmel, and is here to be present at the opening of her picture, "Broadway Scandals," there hasn't been much thought about appearing in vaudeville. But Carmel is a person of endless resource. Believe it or not, within another two hours she had gotten her ukelele out from the moth balls, started practicing her songs and was all ready to go on with the act.

Now all she needs is a new dress, maybe two new dresses. When you think of the months of rehearsal that most people feel they require, you have to hand it to this gal from the West.

"CALIFORNIA here I come" will be changed to "New York here we are" when Larry Ceballos reaches Manhattan with 35 girls from "The Show of Shows," Warner Brothers' latest revue. This is how the tables are turned. Ceballos is bringing these California beauties to take part in "Fifty Thousand Frenchmen," a play to be produced by Ray Goetz, erstwhile husband of Irene Bordoni. Time was when California sent out panic calls for all the New York beauties for the movies. Now it's New York that is paging California for enough pulchritude to lighten the jaded eye of the tired New York business man.

IT WAS a lucky day for George Carpentier when he accepted Jack Warner's offer to play a part in "The Show of Shows." Lucky, because Warners had a chance to see that the former heavyweight had plenty of charm and that he could act. Georges will now make a series of short subjects. "Vitaphone Varieties" they will be called and they will all be done in French. These are in addition to "The French Boudoir," a feature piece. That ought to be apple-pie for Georges, who chatters his French with Pauline Garon every time the two of them get together.

YOU would think that Harold Lloyd couldn't find anything for which to envy another person. He is here in town with an endless bank roll and he is looking over the plays with a view of buying one for sound pictures. I promised not to tell which one, but anyway he has his eye on a popular Broadway hit.

But Harold is a little envious—of a man named George Reilly who lives in Philadelphia. It seems that Harold has 63 dogs in his kennels and Reilly has many more, so Harold betook himself to Philadelphia just to have a look at Reilly's hounds. Alas, alas, he found the story only too true that compared with Reilly's kennels his was just amateur.

SNAPSHOTS of New York collected at random: Gilda Gray wearing a diamond brooch given her by Frank Stewart, reported on Broadway as the future Mr. Gilda Gray. Harold Lloyd giving the guests at an exclusive yacht club a treat by walking in unannounced. Ruth Chatterton a guest of honor at a farewell party given her by Arthur Richmond. Carmel Myers entertaining at the Casino following the opening of her picture. Francis Goldwyn being admired as one of the best-dressed young women at the Ritz-Carlton at luncheon. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

"Isle of Escape"

With the return of Monte Blue to the cast of "Isle of Escape" after injuries suffered in a fall off a raft while on location, production has been resumed on the Warner picture under the direction of Howard Bretherton. In the cast are Myrna Loy, Betty Compson, Nina Quartero, Noah Beery and Ivan Simpson.

Everett Severs Athletic Relations With Medford

APOLOGY TO GILDEA IS DEMANDED

EVERETT high school has severed relations with Medford high school until such time as Medford high tenders to Mr. Dennis A. Gildea, Everett high coach, suitable apology for the insulting remarks of Tony Lyons, Medford high school assistant football coach, which were made on the occasion of the Everett-Medford grid game.

The Everett school committee which officially severed relations with Medford, also demands that the facts of the case, as presented by Medford, be retracted.

This information was given in a statement of the Everett school committee, as follows:

"We, the undersigned, have read in the sporting sections of the Boston papers accusations against our coach, Dennis A. Gildea, to the effect that he insulted Coach Collins of Medford.

We have investigated the report, and have found it to have no foundation. The Everett school board has utmost confidence in and respect for Mr. Gildea as a coach and a gentleman. We deem it a pleasure to have our boys come under his influence, an influence we realize that brings out the best in our boys.

"In reference to the severance of relations with Medford high school we hereby insist that such severance take effect immediately and remain as such until the facts as presented by Medford be retracted and an apology tendered Mr. Gildea.

(Signed) Lillian W. Carter, Vice-Chairman Everett School Board, Fred W. Emerton, Charles Bruce, Chester Hayes, John Fudge."

The other members of the school board were [illegible] posed, but it is practically certain that they will [illegible] the stand taken [illegible] able members of the [illegible].

The severence of relations between the two [illegible] was not entirely unexpected. Stories of a clash in the clubhouse at the Everett high field, during the intermission between the [illegible] periods of the game last Saturday stated that there had been a furious argument between Coaches Collins and Gildea.

Coach Gildea denies this in his statement. Mr. Gildea states [illegible] he is backed up by many witnesses that the trouble was entirely with Tony Lyons, assistant mentor of the Medford high squad.

GILDEA SUPPORTED

Supporting the case of Everett and Mr. Gildea are affidavits from Jack Haney, trainer of the Everett squad; another affidavit signed by members of the Everett high squad and a third affidavit signed by Mr. Babb, caretaker of the Everett field house, where the [illegible] took place.

Jack Haney, who [illegible] Malden high [illegible] school athletic [illegible] statement very [illegible] follows:

"I have been training high school squads in neighboring cities for a score of years. Never in my experience have I witnessed such discourteous actions as those perpetrated by Tony Lyons against such a sincere, hardworking coach as Coach Gildea.

"It seems to me that such actions were premeditated, in view of the fact that it was contrary to custom for a Medford [illegible] team to enter [illegible] quarters that Everett high [illegible] has provided for itself.

"(Signed) JACK HANEY"

Here is the statement [illegible] Everett high school [illegible]:

"We, the members of the Everett high [illegible] squad, condemn the [illegible] Coach Lyons of Medford for his insulting [illegible] which he made during the time that our coach was endeavoring to give us instructions for the second half. Coach Lyons' actions were most disgusting."

(Signed) Capt. John Del [illegible], Jackie McLean, Sid [illegible], Arthur Gree[illegible], [illegible] Dobert, Arthur Covelli, [illegible], Arthur Fourier, James Sten[illegible]

Mr. Babb, caretaker of the Everett high field house, in his affidavit says that the statement in regard to Coach Gildea having trouble with Collins is a malicious lie.

"I stood guard at the door that led into the Everett high school quarters, and can state that Mr. Gildea never even saw Mr. Collins."

(Signed) Mr. Babb, Caretaker

GILDEA'S STATEMENT

The full statement of Coach Gildea, [illegible] gives in detail his version:

"I took my squad to the club house, and shortly after our arrival there we found that Medford had marched into our quarters. We tried to pay the part

McKenney Shifts B. C. Team for Duke Game

WITH the boogey of the first defeat since 1927 staring Boston College in the face a week from Saturday when the Eagles clash with mighty Fordham, Coach Joe McKenney has turned juggler.

He's shaking his team up from top to bottom with the big idea in mind to get the best eleven defensive men on his Boston College squad [illegible] to check the Cavmen. B. C. meets Duke Saturday at the Fenway Park gridiron. This [illegible] will give McKenney one more chance to settle his doubts before the critical Fordham fracas. And, [illegible] Duke [illegible] to beat B. C. [illegible] to soften the Eagles up for the November 9 game.

McKenney won't bench any of his regulars on Saturday. Every man, physically fit, will play against Duke. B. C. hopes to run up a score, enough to win the contest early in the opening [illegible] and then retire. But if Duke [illegible] to another spanking, the B. C. regulars will be put to a [illegible].

The other B. C. regular who won't [illegible] Duke will be Al M[illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] Joe Kelley [illegible] the backfield is nothing more than expected. This youngster has been working like nobody else and has branded himself as the hardest hitting man on the squad [illegible] presence of Pete Herman, Andy Anderson, Al Morelli, John Dixon and many more reputed "bad men."

Marr is the back to suffer by the oncoming rush of the Back Bay [illegible]. Johnny [illegible] been highly satisfactory this fall. He done everything well. But he [illegible] is deserving of a chance [illegible] kicking. Johnny has plans in the back of his cranium to get Kelley out of there by playing the best football of his career. There'll be a merry war between the pair for Kelley hasn't any distinct edge over the regular he nudged out of the backfield.

John Maloney who was a regular until last week when Bud Gorman stepped in, will be back in the first [illegible] due to the absence of Morelli. But this shift will last only until the Revere strong man gets back.

The Blue Devils of the tobacco fields will arrive in Boston on Friday. Jimmy DeHart's club is by no means disorganized after three crushing defeats. They feel that they can whip B. C. And many of DeHart's injured regulars will be ready to meet the Eagles. But they'll face a B. C. team fighting for Fordham positions and this won't benefit them any.

National Body to Rule Grid Proposed

Chicago, Oct [illegible] (INS)—Proposing a national committee to regulate collegiate athletics in the United States Maj. John Griffith, western conference athletic commissioner, today advanced a plan to rid collegiate sports of some of its evils.

Maj. Griffith's proposition was inspired, he admitted, by the recent Carnegie foundation report. This committee according to the plan, would regulate how far alumni groups and athletic departments could go in obtaining assistance for athletes.

Staggs Championship Team to Hold Reunion

Chicago, Oct 30 (AP) Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's 1899 football team [illegible] championship aggregation will reunite at the University of Chicago, Nov. 9, the date of the annual Wisconsin-Chicago game.

Every member of the team except a substitute, is alive, and Coach Stagg is planning a great homecoming.

The team, victorious in 13 out of 14 games, clinched its title against Wisconsin with a 17 to 0 victory.

Vincha Clashes With Tom Dixon

Joe Vincha of Lithuania, protegee of Jack Sharkey, will get the hardest test of his career at Dover, New Hampshire, tomorrow night when he meets Tiger Tom Dixon the Dover champion at the Dover City Hall.

Both Vincha and Dixon are terrific hitters and the fans should witness an old time slug fest. Vincha has knocked out his last seven opponents and is confident that he will add the name of Tiger Tom to his list. The Lithuanian boy is fast learning the tricks of the game and manager Johnny Buckley feels positive that within two years Vincha will be ready meet the best in the world.

Jack Sharkey will go with Vincha to Dover and the largest crowd that ever attended a show at Dover is sure to be on hand to welcome Sharkey and his young protegee.

BELGIAN MAT STAR IN DEBUT

August Benkert, heavyweight wrestling champion of Belgium, will make his American debut tomorrow night in the Grand Opera House, when he will meet Pat McGill, Irish star, in the feature finish match of Paul Bowser's all-star show.

Benkert is regarded as one of the leading wrestlers of all Europe, and his start will be watched by wrestling promoters from coast to coast.

McGill has been tearing along at top speed this season. In the Grand Opera House ring he has taken the scalps of Jack Ganson, Freddy Meyers and John Grandovich in successive weeks.

The Belgian, however, is regarded as the most brilliant opponent of the quartet, and if he carries his gymnasium showings into the ring with him he has an excellent chance of stopping the winning streak of McGill.

Bob "Bibber" McCoy, former Holy Cross football and baseball star, will appear in the semifinal match against John Grandovich.

Rink Proposed for Somerville

School Committeeman Edmund M. Lanigan of Somerville presented an order to the monthly October meeting of the Somerville school board, which was adopted, that the school committee recommend to the board of aldermen the appropriation of a sum of money to construct a hockey club rink in the plot of land near Dilboy Field for use by the Somerville high school hockey team.

FLORIDA ELEVEN DUE HERE FRIDAY FOR GAME WITH HARVARD

WITH every member of the Harvard A team except Dick O'Connell again in good condition, the Crimson held a rehearsal of the coming tilt with Florida at Soldiers Field today.

Jimmie Knox's seconds impersonated the visitors from the far South, and for a long time had the A team paralyzed with trick formations and hidden ball plays.

The real Florida team hauled out of Gainsville on the Federal Express today on their long ride to the Stadium. They are expected to arrive in Boston early Friday morning.

Florida has not been on the Harvard schedule since 1924, when the Crimson downed the Gators by a large score. The tables may be turned on the Cantabs this year, however, as Florida possesses a better than average club, while the Crimson is only so-so.

FLORIDA LINE STRONG

The Gators have one all-America wingman in Dale Van Sickle, who is expected to play a flashy game at left end. Beside him will be Dale Waters at left tackle, who is also a smart linesman.

For guards, the invaders will probably use Jimmy Steele on the left flank, and Alex Reeves as the gentleman on the right. Between these two stalwarts will be Frank Clarke at center.

The boys from below the Mason Dixon line are especially proud of their backfield. This has the [illegible] [illegible] but meteoric Cannonball Clyde Crabtree at the signal caller post, Bethea and Goodbread at halfbacks, and Rainey Cawthon at full back.

'GATORS DEFEATED GEORGIA

This outfit has a scoring punch that has carried them through to victory in four out of five starts thus far this year. Starting the season with Southern College, Florida rolled up 54 points to "love" for Southern. Following this the Gators swallowed V. M. I. for a 12-7 win, and then took Auburn for a 19-0 shellacking.

Their only set back so far has been the 19-7 lesson which Georgia Tech handed the 'Gators two weeks ago. The Gainesville boys came right back the next week however to set Georgia University down, 18-6.

When you consider that this same Georgia team defeated Yale 15 to 0, it is easy to see why Harvard is deeply concerned with the Florida tilt.

At Soldiers Field a new backfield candidate in the person of Red Record is making a strong fight for recognition. Record came to Harvard two years ago from Brookline high, where he made quite a name for himself as a track man and gridster. The former Wealthy Towner was a hurdling champ, and thinks he can carry on the work over a defensive line.

He weighs about 190 and is speedy even when held back by football togs. If Red can develop shiftiness in his field running Horween expects to make a first rate back of him.

In a long drawn out and hard-fought session with the J. V.'s, the A team line was given further instruction in blocking and tackling by Duke Dunn. At the same time stress was placed in the running guard play, with the idea of speeding up the work in the center of the line.

Brown Captain on Sidelines

Providence, R. I., Oct. 30—W. Lincoln Fogarty and H. R. "Bucky" Harris, two Brown varsity back field stars, who have been missing from the drills for the past week returned to the squad and went through a light signal drill with the first eleven.

Captain Bud Edwards, injured in the Syracuse game, was not in uniform, but watched the drill from the sidelines.

The second team went through a scrimmage against the Pollywogs, defeating that combination, 12 to 0, when Dick Hemingway and Jack Calkins broke away for 35 and 40 yard runs from scrimmage for the touchdowns.

Tiger Six Holds Hard Scrimmage

Another scrimmage was scheduled for the Tigers early today in the Arena. The team having attained condition during a week of preliminary drill is ready to step out at full speed and daily contact drills are planned by Manager Eddie Powers from now until a few days before the opening of the season.

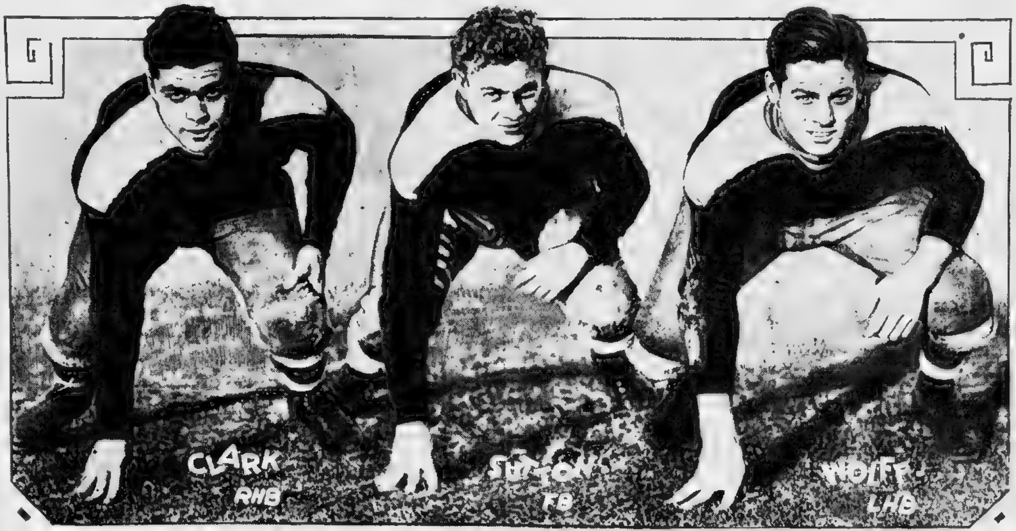
Booth-Marsters Duel Will Pack Bowl Saturday

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

THREE DARTMOUTH BACKS WHO WILL SEE ACTION AGAINST YALE



Y-D CLASH PROMISES THRILLS

By BILL GRIMES

DUE to the presence of Big Al Marsters and Little Al Booth, Dartmouth and Yale will, for the first time, play to a capacity Bowl next Saturday in New Haven.

In the past Dartmouth and Yale have not come up to expectations as a football attraction. Three years ago the Green went into the Bowl with one of its greatest teams, one which did not meet with defeat but failed to fill the Bowl by many, many thousands.

Bill Grimes

Two years ago, after the Indians of the North had tipped over Harvard to the tune of 30 to 6, the demand for Dartmouth-Yale tickets was approximately 40,000. Since the Green and the Blue hooked up in football the publicity departments in both institutions have been unable to arouse more than passing interest among their respective alumni bodies in this game.

The Dartmouth alumni of Boston refused to enthuse over the Yale game and for its shortcoming was roundly criticized by the home office up in Hanover, even to the extent of being informed that they were such a staid body of old New Englanders that they looked upon the trip to New Haven as though it was a journey across the country.

And, as there is not enough Dartmouth men down around New York to make a showing in the Bowl if they all attended, the Green teams of the past have received their support from the undergraduates and a smattering of alumni.

BOOTH VS. MARSTERS

Then, along came Albie Booth threatening to usurp the glory and prestige of Al Marsters and as far as attendance is concerned, the sables of Dartmouth and Yale are over for this season.

Two years ago, Al Marsters [illegible] in his greatest performance in the Yale Bowl. In spite of the fact that Dartmouth went down to defeat, Al Marsters was [illegible].

[illegible] reeled off a run such as never will be excelled and seldom [illegible] when he caught a punt deep in his own territory, started on the Dartmouth side of the field [illegible], and raced down the [illegible] through ten of the Yale [illegible], eight of whom took clean [illegible] at him during the run, until [illegible] was forced outside by "Hoots" [illegible] about 12 yards from the goal line.

Al Marsters is back in his 1927 form. In fact, he is far more effective this season than he was when he was the sensation of '27. He has had two years' experience in varsity football and has for his objective the eclipsing of his achievements of two years back.

BOOTH GREAT PLAYER.

Because he is representing Yale, Albie Booth's reputation is far more reaching than was Al Marsters', during the middle of the Dartmouth star's first season of varsity football. But, regardless of whether Mr. Booth is carrying on for Yale or Siwash he is a football player of the nth degree.

Since Albie Booth joined Mal Stevens' squad, Yale has played four games. Booth broke into varsity football against the University of Vermont, and trotted out at that avalanche of touchdowns with 17 points to his credit. The following week, Georgia stopped Mr. Booth and Eli Yale down in Athens, Ga., under a blistering sun.

But Albie Booth has been running express since that torrid afternoon, having scored every point made by Yale in the Brown and West Point games.

Al Marsters has scored 15 touchdowns and kicked 12 goals for a total of 102 points, which gives him a lead of 43 points over his nearest competitor in the race for individual honors. Albie Booth has carried the ball across the goal line seven times and made 10 points after touchdowns, for a total of 52 points.

Al Marsters and Albie Booth are the sensations of the present season. Their achievements are familiar to football enthusiasts in all sections of this country. Therefore it is only natural that the Dartmouth Yale game has created sufficient interest for 80,000 persons trekking into the Yale Bowl on Saturday afternoon.

Gagnon Likely to Box Tuffy Griffiths

Jack Gagnon, hard hitting local heavyweight, is wanted all over the country since he won from Jim Maloney and knocked out the former light heavyweight champion Mike McTighe. Gagnon received a flattering offer from Philadelphia to box Tuffy Griffiths, sensational Chicago heavyweight, November 11. His manager, Phil Buccola, expects to sign articles today or tomorrow clinching this match.

Walker Keeps Title by Beating Hudkins

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30 (AP)—Fighting with all the old-time fury that won him the title in 1926, Mickey Walker again demonstrated his fitness to wear the middleweight champion when he pounded his way to an easy 10-round decision here last night over his toughest challenger, Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wildcat.

With hefty punches to the jaw and a terrific body attack Walker not only met the rushes of Hudkins but slowed him down to a walk before the mill was half over.

A wildly cheering throng of 2[illegible],000 persons saw Hudkins take one of the worst beatings of his career. His vaunted body attack failed to soften Walker, in fact he wilted before the battering he received in return.

Unable to weave in under the volleys of jolting lefts and rights, Hudkins, however, rallied to win the eighth round. In that session, the only one he won, he bored in to batter Walker with a devastating attack to the body.

Hudkins rally was over with that round, and for the next two sessions he ran into powerful [illegible] the chin that had him dazed and bleeding when the bout was over.

Walker, Hudkins, Kearns Suspended by the N. B. A.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 30 (AP)—Following the Hudkins-Walker championship fight in Los Angeles last night Edward C. Foster, chairman of the championship committee of the National Boxing Association, announced early this morning [illegible] to fighters and Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, stood suspended by the association.

The N. B. A. last month declared Walker's title vacant and will not recognize tonight's winner as the champion. The suspension ordered today will be effective in some 31 states and parts of Canada which have membership in the N. B. A.

TUFTS SUBS IN HARD DRILL

Coach Sampson will give his reserve line and backs the major part of the workout at the Tufts Oval this afternoon when they will scrimmage with the second team and the jayvees.

Much will depend on the work of the replacements in the clash with B. U. next Saturday and Sampson [illegible] taking no chances on being caught unprepared.

MacRae and Peck will be used at the ends with Wilkinson and Mose at tackle. Giles and Mill will line up at guard with Tom Crockett at center. [illegible] Wright, Mercer [illegible] will compose the backfield.

Much attention will be given to the defense which was very weak against New Hampshire the heavier Wildcat team being almost unstoppable at times.

A light workout will be scheduled for the first team, special attention being given to the ends under Bulger Lowe, who is back after three weeks of work with the Dartmouth team.

The freshman will go through their last heavy session this afternoon in preparation for the annual game with Dean Academy at Franklin next Fri...

MEDFORD AND EVERETT BREAK

[illegible] when Mr. Lyons [illegible] a word [illegible]

That was only the beginning [illegible] I have ever received as a high school coach. [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. Collins [illegible] the game was played in order [illegible] and at the end of the game, when the fans swarmed onto the field I was walking toward the clubhouse with a group of my boys. The same Mr. Lyons worked his way across the field to me and addressed me in a most unprofessional and insulting manner in front of my boys and the citizens of Everett.

Realizing the foolhardiness of conversing with such an unreasonable party my decision was to keep my counsel.

Medford Severs Relations With Everett

Medford High School has followed the act of Everett High School which severed relations with Medford High by officially severing athletic relations with the Everett High School.

At 11 o'clock this morning the following letter was sent to Charles Collins, faculty manager of Everett High School:

Dear Sir:

As faculty manager of the Medford High School it is incumbent upon me to notify you that the school officials of Medford High School have decided that under the existing conditions all athletic relations between Medford High School and Everett High School be severed for an indefinite period.

Yours very truly,
RALPH L. KENDALL.

The action of Medford High widens the breach between two of the most prominent high schools in Greater Boston. Everett, through an announcement by its school board, took the first step toward making the break.

A Kiss For Corinna By May Christie

CHAPTER 51

THE weeks went [illegible] There was [illegible] healing of the breach between Corinna and Malvey.

Pride. Anger. And Jealousy. On both sides these enemies of love operated against a reunion.

[illegible] with Mortimer Crisswell [illegible] of his money [illegible] can give her [illegible]" Malvey [illegible] better.

[illegible] Denise Van W[illegible] ambition [illegible] his young stat and he thinks I'm nobody and a drawback!"

Yet, all the time as spring drifted into summer there was no letup of her heartache.

She had loved him so. Without him—young as she was—life had lost its meaning and its savor.

She had long since learned the [illegible] and inadequacy of Mortimer.

Beyond a headache in the morning there was nothing to be gained by any of his parties.

Denise didn't con[illegible] so often to the beauty parlor.

When she did, however, she would drop all sorts of hints about Malvey.

They were such great friends! He was quite "persona grata" out at Great Neck.

Natalie de Santa[illegible] sudden marriage with Jack van Tuyl had been a shock. Denise expected treachery among her "pals," and claimed that she invariably got it. But not for one moment had she dreamed that Jack—who professed such devotion for herself—would ever have made a mess of his life with stupid old Natalie!

"He HAD to marry money, because his dad practically had cut him off without [illegible] per to a spender [illegible] had explained M[illegible] added, as a sop [illegible] his young cous[illegible] rather have ma[illegible] but our mutua[illegible] much 'en rapp[illegible] that you there [illegible] no money!"

"Rotter!" D[illegible] cintly.

This defe[illegible] freer to pur[illegible] [illegible] however [illegible]

So he was [illegible] again and again to dine at the invitation of Denise, and with her uncle's approval.

Not only [illegible] at Great Neck, but [illegible] parties.

Denise [illegible] next him most of the time at such festivities.

But [illegible] laugh and [illegible] with the best of them [illegible] rose [illegible] just [illegible] something were eating him.

It couldn't [illegible] was still hankering after that nobody of a girl in the beauty parlor.

But of course not. Only wasn't it rather [illegible] though Denise had given [illegible] of "leads," and though he'd flirted with her in a sense, [illegible] yet confessed his love. [illegible] Nor had he ever hinted a[illegible] about wanting to marry [illegible]

"He's [illegible] of a snub." The simile of [illegible] beggarman and the princess.

If she were to bring matters to a climax she must think out something novel.

Van Tuyl had wounded her pride and Malvey should mend it.

Her coming-of-age celebrations? She'd be the center of the show—[illegible] like old Jack? [illegible] He had the vanity of [illegible] "He'd much [illegible] Denise, [illegible] comes up and [illegible] all eyes would be turnedd upon her. In some manner she must compromise Malvey—make him and herself conspicuous.

Then, if he still were silent and treated her only as a pal, her uncle would fix it.

"We're going to repeat the pageant we gave at the ball in Madison Square Garden," said Denise to Malvey as they danced together on the Ritz roof one sultry evening.

This was the first time she'd got him out alone with her. She had 'phoned him at the office and insisted that he meet her.

Being indebted to the Crisswell family, Malvey had felt it incumbent on him to escort her.

"The Cleopatra tableau?"

She nodded her blonde head gaily.

"Out in our own grounds, with the band playing weird oriental tunes! Won't it be lovely?"

(She'd have to wear more clothes, he was thinking grimly).

She sprang her surprise: "I want you to take the part of Marc Antony."

"I? Oh, good heavens! You're joking! I couldn't!"

"Why not?" she demanded. His shyness was all very well, but it was merely a pose to maintain it, considering their intimacy.

He laughed awkwardly. "I haven't got the 'figger'——"

"Don't stall. Don't put me off with nonsense. You're the handsomest fellow of our crowd, and you darn well know it."

He wished she wouldn't say such things. Made him feel doubly awkward.

To Be Continued Tomorrow

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW would you answer this letter?

Dear Miss Robinson:

I would like very much to have [illegible] on the following: Are we predestined to be what we are? Are some of us born to be paupers all our lives while others are born to be millionaires? Are criminals [illegible] destined to be criminals no matter how hard they strive against it? Or are we all born with equal rights and is it up to us to work out our own lives?

ANXIOUS.

Elsie Robinson

Lady, I'm not going to [illegible] you. Naturally I'm tickled pink at your assumption that I'm sort of Socrates and Encyclopedia Britannica combination, and I'd surely like to strut my stuff accordingly. But past grievous experiences have shown me that it can't be done. Somebody always gets wise to me. So I'll beat them to it and confess flat that I DON'T KNOW.

I don't know why we are what we are or how we got this way. I don't know whether I'm "master of my fate" or just another painted monkey on a string.

BUT I'VE GOT A HUNCH AND I'M GOING TO PLAY IT THROUGH TO THE FINISH.

AND MY HUNCH IS THAT WE ALL HAVE A CHANCE AND A CHOICE.

Obviously we're not all born free or equal. But I do believe that we can choose between beauty and ugliness—courage and cowardliness—truth and dishonor—always, of course, within our own limitations. And I do believe that there's strength enough in each of us to enforce our decisions.

Why do I believe these things? Just because I want to believe them? Yes! AND THEREIN LIES THE BEST POSSIBLE REASON FOR BELIEVING THEM.

For why should I WANT life to be a free, proud adventure unless there were a reason for that wanting? And why should I desire the fine and noble things in life unless there were an aim to that desire?

There's a reason for the desires of the spirit just as there's a reason for the organs of the body. There's a reason for the stomach, lungs, heart. The reason for stomach is food. The reason for heart is blood. Even if you had never seen food, the stomach would be a proof that it existed.

And there is, I'm sure, as good a reason for the hungers of the spirit. If stomachs prove food, and lungs prove air, and hearts prove blood, then the groping for beauty and the clamor for freedom in our spirits prove that beauty and freedom can and should exist.

Why do I feel, in spite of all my [illegible] and bewilderment, that I AM "the master of my fate?" Why do I feel that I'm free?

Because it's RIGHT and NATURAL to feel that way. Because freedom IS . . . and my spirit was made to desire it . . . AND SOME DAY I SHALL HAVE IT.

That, to me, is the answer to the riddle of life. Maybe it isn't the right answer. But, at any rate, it keeps me proud and on the job. And if the gods are putting anything over on me—well, I'll never know it. FOR I'M SURELY GOING TO PLAY THIS HAND OUT AS IF I OWNED THE CARDS.

The Truth

ABOUT FINE SENSIBILITIES

By ELINOR GLYN

NOW THE train of thought which was awakened in me by the unpleasant experience I told you of was this. It is the duty of every mother so to instill fine sensibilities in her little sons that they will be incapable of committing social offences when they are grown up.

As truly [illegible] the morals of the women of a nation are regulated by the exigencies of the men, so the manners of the men of a nation are regulated by the exigencies of the women. And when you [illegible] men [illegible] with coarse habits, you may blame the mother.

Elinor Glyn

Now Gracie and Maud, I council you never to put up with the slightest want of refinement in your sweethearts and young husbands. While they are in love with you they will accept delicate suggestions and you must have the courage to indicate your displeasure the very first time such an offense occurs.

I have had letters from sweet girls telling me the anguish of disillusion they were experiencing directly after marriage, when their 'Pats' and 'Bobs' had begun to be careless in their habits—things that were not revealed while they were courting. Their ways were killing all love in the wives—but they, the girls—did not like "to say anything."

And this silence will end in the divorce court as often as not. When if the offenders had been tactfully warned in the beginning, love might have stayed. So Gracie and Maud, be exquisite yourselves and insist upon exquisiteness in the men who love you.

Framing Child's Habits

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

"BUT Bobby is hungry," explained a young mother of her two-year-old son, "and I can't make him wait till dinner time. He's too little to have formed habits in regard to when it is time to eat."

I think you will agree that that was one of the silliest statements you've heard for a long time, for of all habits the one of eating at definite times is the first that a young infant forms, or should be taught to form.

When you ask WHEN SHALL we begin with our child to try to form good habits, I for one, would reply: "The moment he is born."

Dr. Mandel Sherman in his excellent book, "The Process of Human Behavior," says of habits: "In the child the formation of complex habits depends upon the acquisition of simple organized acts which in turn grow out of the aimless, undifferentiated activity of the young infant. The fact that the infant is able to perform numerous aimless movements makes it possible for him to develop a great variety of habits later on."

Can't you picture what Dr. Sherman means? Can't you see the wild, aimless throwing about of arms and head and legs in the tiny body? And it is easy to follow this along until we see not aimless, but organized, muscular movements. His acts become co-ordinated, and to again quote Dr. Sherman: "When confronted with a new problem these distinctly organized acts are now brought into use instead of the earlier random activities and are combed into more elaborate arrangements." He now reacts definitely to certain stimuli, and what is an accustomed reaction to an accustomed stimulus, except habit?

Habits are energy and nerve savers of later years, and the more things your child learns to do automatically (habitually) the more ready he will be to take on new adventures, new fields of learning. A teacher once told our class that habits were like ruts in the earth. Our actions could run through them without ploughing a new furrow each time.

And even in your wee baby's wild and aimless gestures there lie the "makings" of habits, good or bad. Whether they are to be habits which will help him through life depends upon you and your realization that each day he is growing and learning and getting to the point when a habit will be set before you know it. And to avoid bad habits taking root, maybe you will profit by remembering a remark a friend of mine once made: "Never do even once, with a husband or a baby, that which you do not want to do again."

Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THE pine tree stands at the verge of the world
Far beyond swings the crescent
moon
Over the gulfs that cannot be bridged,
Where the great winds wail and
croon
It is only for lovers, the crescent
moon,
For the lift of its silver arc
Is bright with the promise that lovers glimpse
Though the world, like night's sky, be dark.
And for lovers only its spell is cast,
They go snared in its shining
nets;
Were there worry and grief in the bygone days?
The lover's heart forgets!
The lovers who walk in that tranquil light
Taste a joy beyond earthly things,
Where the pine tree stands at the rim of the world
And beyond it the crescent moon swings.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American.

Precocity and Genius

By Louis E. Bisch, M. D., Ph. D.,
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology.

THE terms precocity and genius are often used interchangeably although they are distinct states of mind.

A precocious child is one whose rate of intellectual advance is faster than the average. Such a child is not, however, necessarily a genius.

Dr. L. E. Bisch

Indeed, embryo geniuses often do poorly at school. Since they see and understand learning in general in a different way from ordinary children, they resent interference with their own thinking and tend to despise routine mental tasks.

A precocious individual follows the beaten track, but he does so quickly. A genius will have none of the beaten track, for he feels the urge to discover new paths for himself.

Truly precocious children are rare and geniuses are rarer still.

In fact, most people, whether adults or children, who go by the name of geniuses are merely bright people who catch on to things readily.

It happens not uncommonly that a child is brought to the psychologist or nerve specialist because he does not get on well in school and the suspicion is that he may be feeble-minded. The trouble really is—if it may be called so—that the child is mentally superior, in short, possesses the elements of genius.

Superior children, whether precocious or genius, are often problem children, aside from schooling difficulties.

They are usually "spoiled," because not only the parents, but everybody else, fusses over them too much.

They become egocentric and selfish. The praise and admiration they receive makes them feel too important. A kind of self-introspection develops which is distinctly pernicious—that is, they observe themselves doing stunts, as it were.

The process of forcing in learning which is so often employed in these cases, and which is so reprehensible, has a lot to do with it. Their highly keyed up nervous constitutions cannot stand the unusual strain.

Every effort should be made to give unusually gifted children the benefit of an all around training, mentally as well as physically.

The subjects they excel in may well be neglected and stress laid upon those in which they may lag behind or be disinterested in.

Such children also require more physical exercise and out-of-door activity than their more robust playmates. Too much reading and study should be discouraged. They should romp and play as much as possible.

It is difficult, really, to lay down rules for the training and treatment of the precocious and the genius. Each child is an individual problem and an individual study.

The wisest course for a parent to pursue is to seek the advice of a specialist in these matters, either privately or at a psychological clinic, of which there are many throughout the country.

Pronouncing a Name

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—I enjoy reading your column, and read it every day! I have been to you before and so I am here again. Will you please settle an argument? The question is, which is correct, "Paul Whitman" or "Paul Whiteman?" Is it pronounced as "Whit" or "White?"

2—Also will you please criticize my handwriting?

MRS. C. R.

THANK you for your kind words.

1—The name of this popular musical director is spelled P-a-u-l W-h-i-t-e-m-a-n, and is so pronounced WHITEMAN.

2—Your handwriting needs more care, much more care, in the details. You have a good foundation, but the letters should be formed most punctiliously.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I went to visit my wife's parents, and while sitting on the porch of their house my wife's sister who is 15 years of age, was sitting on the porch with one of her young boy friends. About 10 minutes later he arose to leave, and she accompanied him. When they passed my wife and me she introduced the boy to us. He was about 17. I did not rise from my chair, but shook hands with him. Later I was told that I should have stood up. Was I correct in remaining seated?

IRVING.

NO, YOU should have stood up. Your wife's sister was standing, and therefore you should have stood. And especially when she was making the introduction. The fact that she is so young makes no difference.

This question of yours is very important, for a man should rise when a woman of any age is standing, and especially when she begins to make an introduction.

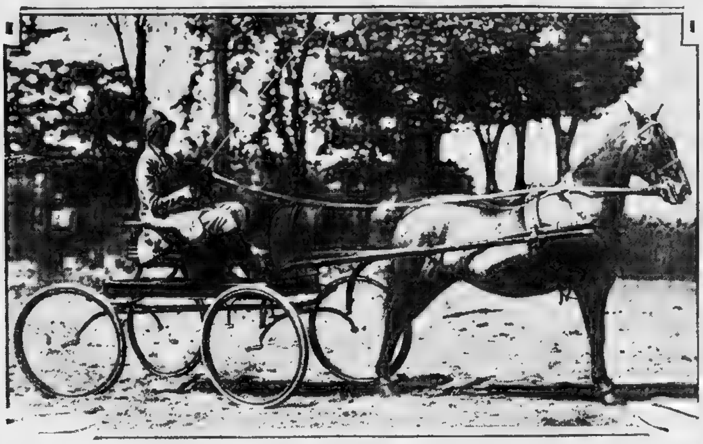
Madge Jarratt Weds Raymond W. Lapham in Brilliant Ceremony Tonight



MRS. WILLIAM C. COX (Jessie Bancroft) sought honors today in the hackney class at the Horse Show.

Lapham-Jarratt Bridal in San Antonio, Texas; Edith Mitton Is Presented at Somerset Luncheon Today

IN SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, tonight Miss Madge Jarratt, member of the Junior League and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Durrett Jarratt of West Mistletoe ave., is becoming the bride of Raymond White Lapham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Lapham of Warren st., Brookline. The ceremony takes place at 8:30, at the First Presbyterian Church, the reception following at the home of the bride. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Philip Salton of [illegible], England, and formerly of Boston, is matron of honor, as is also Mrs. John Kimhork of Evanston, Ill. Miss Carroll Hewitt of Marianna, Ark., is filling the role of honor maid. The four bridesmaids are: Miss Lois Lasater, Mrs. Frank Draught, Miss Catherine Johnston and Miss Mary Terrell, all of San Antonio.

MISS JARRATT, A FLOWER-LIKE blonde, is wearing a gown of ivory satin and a veil worn in the fashion of a nun. A gorgeous train of duchess point lace completes the costume. Her corsage is of orchids and valley lilies. The bridal attendants are wearing frocks of parchment colored taffeta combined with tulle of cocoa color, and are carrying bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums. The church is decorated with similar flowers of both bronze and yellow. The dress of bride's mother is of blue velvet, and Mrs. Lapham's is of peach moire.

MR. LAPHAM IS HAVING for his best man Barton Lee Mallory of Adams st., Memphis, Tenn. The ushers are Allan Look, Philip Burnett, H. S. Griggs, Peter Stewart, Frederick Robinson, W. W. Robbins, G. B. Berger, Jr., Robert Jarratt and Jarratt Beanland. Some of the wedding guests travelled from distant parts. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lapham of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lapham of San Francisco and Mrs. Hewitt of Marianna, Ark. Mr. Lapham and his bride are going around the world on their honeymoon.

A LUNCHEON TOOK PLACE at the Somerset today in honor of Miss Edith Mitton, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Mitton of Marlborough st. It was a presentation in the true sense of the word, as Mrs. Mitton's friends were present to meet the debutante. In all there were about 300 guests. The tables were charmingly decorated with small and large yellow chysanthemums. Miss Mitton had some of her intimate friends assist her in her duties as hostess. This group consisted of Miss Catherine Brown, Miss Barbara Proctor, Miss Polly Cushman, Miss Marian L. Duane, Miss Carolyn Day, Miss Margaret Emerson, Miss Barbara Frost, Miss Rossmond Holton, Miss Dorothy Hall, Miss Mary Elizabeth Lowe, Miss Elizabeth H. Mitchell, Miss Phoebe Russell and Miss Constance Young, all buds of this season, and Miss Miriam Winslow, a deb of a few years ago. Miss Mitton wore an apricot velvet dress that had insets of ecru lace and was combined with brown tulle. Her hat was of brown velvet. She is a provisional member of the Junior League.

A HOUSE DANCE IS BEING given this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Proctor at their home on Commonwealth ave., for their daughter, Miss Barbara Proctor, whose formal bow was made October 4, at a tea given at the Proctors summer place on the North Shore. An ushers' dinner of about fifty is to take place before the dance. Mr. Harrison Proctor, brother of the debutante, together with James DeNormandie is in charge of the ushers who are, Frank Soule, Robert Forrester, Richard Edwards, Kendrick Kerns, Lindsay Ware, John Collins, Philip Rhinelander, John Streeter, William Elwell, John Grandin, Philip Bourne, Frank White, Eben Draper, William Shearer, David Darling, Nelson Farquhar, John Sheldon, Charles Hovey, Thomas Souter, John Dinsmore, Edward Francis and Robert Post. Miss Proctor, who is a Titian blonde, is wearing a long pink velvet gown. Her corsage is to be of orchids. She is a provisional member of the Junior League.

IN THE CHURCH OF OUR SAVIOUR in Brookline, Miss Marjorie Leatherbee will plight her troth to David Blaney on Saturday, November 16. The reception given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Arthur Moulton Leatherbee is to be held at Longwood Towers. Mr. Blaney is the son of Mrs. Dwight Blaney of Boston. Mrs. Anthony E. Saunders, sister of the bride, is to be matron of honor. Those who are to have the honor of being bridesmaids are, Miss Dorothy Trott, Miss Frances Billings and the bridegroom's two sisters, the Misses Margaret and Elizabeth Blaney. One of the other attendants is as yet uncertain. The engagement was announced at a small tea on New Year's day.

ONE OF THE SMART SETS of invitation subscription dances for the young miss of 16 or thereabouts is the Junior Eliot Hall dances arranged yearly by Miss Souther, who has several different series of dances for varying ages to attend. The first of this series will take place November 18, the other four to take place on December 23, January [illegible] and March 1 and 28. The last one is a costume ball and is greatly looked forward to throughout the year. The patronesses are made up of those active society women who are particularly interested in the younger set, most of them having sons and daughters trotting around at these same dances. They are Mrs. David Cheever, Mrs. Philip S. Dalton, Mrs. W. [illegible] Dexter, Mrs. Robert Homans, Mrs. Augustus P. Loring, Jr., Mrs. Andrew Marshall, Mrs. Harold F. Mason, Mrs. Frederick S. Moseley, Mrs. Edward W. C. Streeter and Mrs. Arthur H. Weed.

MRS. HENRY F. GODFREY, JR. (Marie Louise Gray), of Long Island, is coming on to Boston for the debut of her sister, Miss Edith Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gray of Commonwealth ave. The presentation is to be a tea given by Mrs. Charles H. Joy at the Chilton Club. Mrs. Benjamin A. G. Thorndike is planning a small luncheon in honor of Mrs. Godfrey at her new home on Longfellow rd. in Cambridge.

MISS HARRIET GILBERT of Hartford is visiting Miss Marianne Upton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Upton of Channing st., Cambridge. Miss Susan Blake, a debutante of several seasons ago, is playing here in "The Age of Innocence" and is, I understand, second only to Katharine Cornell.

LOS ANGELES GIRL ARTIST AT PIANO

By MOSES SMITH

LILLIAN STEUBER, a young pianist hailing from Los Angeles, travelled some three thousand miles to give a concert at Jordan Hall last night. Others have travelled similar distances and we have wondered why. But not so in Miss Steuber's case. For her [illegible] disclosed at once a performer of exceptional talent.

She is still a young girl, but what impressed the listener [illegible] maturity. We do not say that there were no [illegible] the Beethoven Sonata, Opus 10, for example. But she caught the essential spirit of the composer, as few young artists do.

So in the Busoni version of the Bach Chaconne. Though his version [illegible] still the nobility of Bach's utterance. And this nobility was conveyed by Miss Steuber. Here was [illegible] for a mature head and heart, yet Miss Steuber grasped its meaning, conveyed it to the listener.

Her playing of Chopin was more uneven. The C-sharp minor Nocturne was [illegible] too perfunctory, and so was the Scherzo in the same key. But the three Ecossaises and three Etudes, which she chose very well, were beautifully done. The program further listed pieces by Debussy, Scriabine, Ravel and Liszt-Busoni.

It is also [illegible] to add that Miss Steuber [illegible] understands the possibilities of her instrument. The audience, which was not large, applauded her enthusiastically.

Halloween Party to Aid Church Fund

Halloween will be observed by the parishioners of the Church of the Holy Name, West Roxbury, with a bridge and whist party in the Community house, 1689 Centre st. The entire proceeds of which will be added to the building fund of the church now under construction. This year's affair is sponsored by the Misses Cecilia and Marguerite Kelley, who will be assisted by a large committee.

Talkies in English Banned in Mexico

The dispatch said the measure was expected to end the invasion of the English language.

Bankers Convinced Missing Pilot Dead

New York, Oct. 30 (INS)—James H. Stillman and Joseph H. Durrell, millionaire bankers, back in New York today revealed that all efforts to locate the pilot of their airplane, Russell H. Merrill, who disappeared during a hunting trip in Alaska, had proved unavailing.

Stillman declared he was convinced the flier met death.

Commenting on the $1 extra dividend declared by directors of United States Steel Corp after the close of the market Tuesday Jas H Oliphant & Co say:

"Few people were looking for any special action by United States Steel at this time. With $1 extra dividend Steel common probably [illegible] basis in fact. It was just six years ago that extras at $1 rate were begun when regular dividend was $5 and $7 total payments became regular 30 months later. In last analysis it is more constructive for Steel to pay $1 than $5 extra since any sizable amount would appear non-recurrent.

"Share earnings for third quarter were $5.57 and for nine months $15.62, in each case applying to amount of stock as increased by 1-for-7 subscription on June 21 last. Since bonds are being retired Thursday next with proceeds from stock financing plus treasury cash and interest on these has run to date there has been some obscuring of earning power in reports. Only $4.18 final quarter earnings are necessary to make $20 for this year. Value behind Steel common is greater than it was when price was higher."

William T. Yetman, Boston statistician who "called" the turn of the market on the eve of the first big smash, stated today: "Looking over the enormity of the present situation in all its phases, the one point that stands out is that after 12 o'clock yesterday there seemed to be buying orders for unlimited amounts of the really cheap stocks, and that it was coming from the sources from which it has come on somewhat similar occasions in other years. Although there were stocks in which there was no market for hours, bids were arranged as speedily as possible, made at an arbitrary figure but for an unlimited number of shares. In due time I look to see them make a bull market on which to distribute them again, and that bull market could go quite a distance before the price of the majority of stocks would be even up to a reasonable figure. At present they are almost as ridiculous as they were on the other side two short months ago.

"The immediate beginning of the next bull market cannot come for months. It must be considered that in these few days the country has lost more equities than the World War cost us. Probably close to half of what it cost the Allies. In one case we received bonds for it but in the present case it is clear loss. It will take a long time to recover to normal, and it will take probably five years before we do it all over again, maybe ten."

ITALIAN IMPORTS UP

Italy, which for the past two years has been declining as a market for foreign made farm machinery, is again on the upward trend.

Exports of electrical equipment from the United States during July amounted to $12,891,948, an increase of $2,971,960 compared with the same month last year, according to the electrical division, Department of Commerce. The total for the seven months' period ending July 31, 1929, showed an increase of $20,482,564.

RADIO TRADE BENEFITS

The radio trade in Sydney, New South Wales, reports added business as a result of the widespread interest aroused by the publicity given to the taking over broadcasting under government control, by the new Australian Broadcasting Company, the Department of Commerce is informed by Assistant Trade Commissioner Lewis R. Miller, Sydney.

NEW LEAF TOBACCO

Philippine Bureau of Agriculture reports that after a series of repeated attempts to produce successfully the yellow or bright cigarette tobacco it has at last succeeded in producing a type which can be grown in Isabella Province, according to a report received in the Tobacco Section of the Department of Commerce from Assistant Trade Commissioner Clarence P. Harper.

LUMBER TRADE QUIET

September lumber business in the United Kingdom was quiet, but the general effort to extend employment is resulting in the maintenance of steady consumption, according to a cable received in the Department of Commerce from Acting Commercial Attache Donald Renshaw, London.

NEW RUBBER PROCESS

An inventor in British Malaya has been experimenting with a new process for preparing sheet rubber from liquid latex, and it is believed that his process might possibly be adapted to the manufacture of rubber gloves and similar products requiring durability, high tensile strength, and elasticity.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE

Plans are well advanced in Spain for the reorganization of a number of companies already existing and dedicated to the transformation of metallurgical products, according to a report in the Spanish press transmitted to the Department of Commerce from Commercial Attache Charles A. Livengood, Madrid.

STOCKS RALLY, WITH BUT FEW SOFT SPOTS

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL

New York, Oct 30 (AP)—Panicky selling of stocks, which has been sweeping the markets of the country for the last week, eased today, and prices rallied briskly as strong investment support made its appearance.

A few new soft spots were [illegible]ted out, but stocks generally sold much higher, gains in many of the active issues ranging from 5 to 30 points.

Bankers, meeting in informal conference at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Company this noon privately expressed the view that the situation had materially improved.

Declaration of extra dividends by the United States Steel and American Can Companies yesterday, followed by special disbursements today by Dictaphone and Bon Ami Companies and an increase in the regular dividend on A. O. Smith Company, coupled with publication of an excellent nine month earnings by Westinghouse Electric, helped to revive a confidence in the market.

The distress selling which threw the market in semi panic yesterday appeared to have been completed, and investment buying and short covering came into the market in huge volume, sending scores of leading issues up to nearly 30 points.

American Telephone, which broke to 204 yesterday, shot up 27 points to 231, and U.S. Steel rose 12 points to 186, in response to yesterday's favorable earnings report and dividend action. Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, American and Foreign Power, Westinghouse Electric and Consolidated Gas were among issues rising 5 to 10 points.

Trading was in huge volume, although failing to approach yesterday's frantic pace. Before midday the ticker was approximately three-quarters of an hour late.

Call money renewed at 6 per cent in contrast to yesterday's renewal at 5, presumably reflecting month-end credit requirements.

Governors of the New York Stock Exchange voted today to delay the opening tomorrow until noon and to close the exchange Friday and Saturday. The exchange will be open Monday, the day preceding Election Day.

Conn. Utilities in Merger Plans

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 30 (AP)—Directors of the Stamford Gas & Electric Company and the Connecticut Power Company announced today a proposed financial consolidation of the two companies. When the deal is consummated the stockholders of the former will receive four shares of Conn. Power, par $25, for each share of Stamford Gas & Electric, par $100, an exchange on a par for par basis.

Control of the Stamford company will not pass out of that city, however, as the Connecticut Power Company has agreed on a trusting to hold acquired Stamford stock. The trust will be elected by the board of the Stamford Gas & Electric Company. The Conn. Power Company is controlled by the Hartford Electric Light Company.

Motors Outlook Is Seen as Good

Returning from Europe, John N. Willys, chairman of Willys-Overland Co., stated the present outlook of the motor industry pointed toward a temporary slackening of production which would possibly continue into early 1930.

"I have seen this condition before," he said, "and have full confidence in ability of the motor industry to recover from its temporary slump. Presents costs of production in the industry are down to rock bottom, and I do not look for any reduction of prices for the time being."

Mr. Willys said that during his two months abroad he surveyed the company's export activities and that the outlook for continued good business in Europe was extremely good.

Firmer Tone Is Shown in Detroit

Detroit, Oct. 30 (INS)—Detroit stocks displayed a firmer tone at the opening this morning, reflecting the drying up of forced liquidation and the appearance of buying by local investment trusts and bargain hunters.

Packard opened up a fraction from the close and moved to [illegible] on a fairly heavy volume. White Star refining was up 3 points from its opening at 48; Cardon Phonocraft, which broke yesterday to 6 for a 24-point loss, opened this morning at 8 and moved up to 11.

$7 Earnings for Drug, Inc., Certain

A prominent official of Drug, Inc., confirms estimates that 1929 earnings of the corporation will reach $7 per share on stock now outstanding, stating that "without any doubt" this figure will be attained.

"Business and profits are the best in the corporation's history," it is officially stated. "Every one of our subsidiary companies is showing better results. Our business is excellent all along the line."

Dictaphone Extra

Extra dividend of 50 cents was declared on the common stock of the Dictaphone Corporation in addition to the regular quarterly payment of the same amount. Both dividends will be paid Dec. 2.

BANKERS POINT OUT CHANCE TO BUY BARGAINS

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Oct. 30—"Buying the best stocks at today's prices is like buying gold dollars at 75 cents."

That sentiment, expressed by Percy H. Johnston, president of the Cheimcal Bank and Trust Company, was endorsed yesterday by other leading New York bankers after the market had suffered its worst spasm of hysteria. During the spasm more than 16,000,000 shares of stock were sacrificed at any old price offered.

The writer after having been long bearish, bought extensively of these "gold dollars," confident they will prove most profitable. Having done this himself, naturally his advice to others now is:

"BUY STOCKS."

Do not rush to the conclusion, however, that lower quotations cannot possibly be witnessed. They may or they may not. But certain it is that equal bargains have not been available since the Stock Exchange closed when the World War started.

The last time most stocks looked extremely attractive was in February-March, 1926. Enormous profits have since been realized on lines of stocks then accumulated.

The writer believes equally generous profits will be pocketed on stocks purchased during yesterday's uncontrolled—and uncontrollable—demoralization.

The Big Six—Thomas W. Lamont, Charles E. Mitchell, William C. Potter, Albert H. Wiggin, Seward Prosser, George F. Baker Jr.—got together last evening. One of them said to me:

"The public have lost their heads. It is pathetic that so many people should part with good stocks at such absurdly low prices. It is the duty of everyone to counsel immediate return to sanity. Such investment bargains are little likely to be available again in a hurry after this wave of madness passes."

I hear the Stock Exchange will be closed on Saturday.

It may remain closed until after Tuesday's municipal elections. The decision on this point will depend on whether activity has subsided sufficiently by the end of this week to enable stock brokers to clear their feet.

Agitation to close the exchange has thus far been stoutly resisted by the banking group acting in cooperation with J. P. Morgan & Co. Unless entirely unforseen developments occur, the institution will remain open until Saturday.

Remember, there were just as many shares bought as there were sold during yesterday's record-breaking session. Many investors appeared yesterday in Wall street with cash to pick up bargains—and they got them.

Mr. Johnston in his emphatic statement to me said:

"Buying the best stocks at today's price is like buying gold dollars at 75 cents. The Chemical Bank has been through six major panics, starting with the 1837 one. It never yet has failed to prove profitable to buy well-selected, well-seasoned investment stocks at panic prices. This panic will prove no exception. Everybody who has available money should not let this opportunity slip by."

I buttonholed George F. Baker, Jr. in the First National Bank yesterday and attempted to get a statement from him. But he is just as reticent as his venerable father. He parried:

"You have known me in the 1927 panic, in the 1914 panic and again now. I have never yet made a statement about the stock market and I fear I'll have to disappoint you again this time."

BUY STOCKS

Mr. Baker, it might be added wore no worried look.

There was considerable investment trust buying yesterday, but more is expected today.

BUY STOCKS.

That advice is sound, regardless of whether prices go still lower or not. Commodore Vanderbilt used to tell his friends:

"Never try to wait for the last eighth."

Warren Brothers Estimate $18 a Share

It is conservatively estimated that earnings of Warren Brothers Co on the common stock for year to end Dec. 31 next will be in excess of $18 a share after all charges and first and second preferred dividends. This will compare with $12.79 a share in 1928.

Directors of the company are scheduled to meet tomorrow afternoon and there is excellent basis for the expectation that the dividend payment on the common stock will be substantially increased. Warren Brothers common has been paying $4 regular and $1 extra per annum since 1925.

Stock Crash Expected to Hurt Business But Little

By CLINTON COFFIN

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—After assessing all the effects of the shocks administered by the stock market during the last few days experienced business men associated with the administration of the national government are a unit in the declaration that fundamentally, commerce, industry and finance will emerge substantially undisturbed.

The latest public word, as it was given over the radio by Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, has been echoed and re-echoed by officials of cabinet rank since President Hoover briefly outlined it.

"The growth of the income of the nation, the advance in the well being of its businessmen, its wage earners and its farmers during recent years, has not been due to temporary and fleeting causes," he said. "It has been a definite upward trend. Basically, our normal purchasing power has not been impaired. Regardless of regrettable speculative uncertainties, the industrial and commercial structure of the nation is sound."

An impressive array of considerations backing up that judgment, all pointing out that commodity prices have been kept clear from inflation in securities, was presented by Dr. Klein. As to the stock market performance of the last two years, he said that "profits of business justified an advance in stock prices, but they did not justify going up to the sky."

Privately, two Cabinet members most associated with business and monetary affairs have indicated the view that the securities markets had to face the reckoning for an unbelievably persistent speculative era. The attitude of the Federal Reserve Board, evinced early last spring, in insisting upon divorcing the national banking system from security marts was thrown into a higher light by the semi-formal discussions. The Reserve Board has conducted the credit mechanism so that less and less of deposit funds have been available for stock market credits.

One result of this has been to put the reserve system in a strong position. Its latest accounts show that the regional banks of the system hold more than 80 per cent of gold against the combined total of deposits, and of circulating currency. It has been one of the features of the monetary system as it has developed during recent months, that banks of all classes were lending less and less to brokers and dealers in securities against stock collateral, as prices rose. In the latest statement of loans to Wall Street brokers, for last Thursday, it was shown that private money lenders were furnishing in round figures $4,000,000,000 to finance stock holdings on margins, while all the banks of the country were lending roughly $2,000,000,000.

This organization of the loans accounts for the fact that the reserve board, which, since its organization in 1914, has had to come to action in serious crisis, has met in Washington regularly since the stock market shocks began without meeting a call for assistance.

United Shoe Showing Biggest Peace-Time Prosperity

C. G. Bancroft, treasurer United Shoe Machinery Corporation, asked to comment upon the business condition of the company, says:

"Business with us is upon a very satisfactory basis. Volume to date is as large as we have ever experienced.

"The outlook for shoe manufacturing at the moment and through the winter months is distinctly promising. Barring a radical turnabout in buying, company in the fiscal year to end Feb. 28 next should enjoy its greatest peace-time prosperity."

U.S. STEEL GIVES EXTRA $1 SHARE

New York, Oct. 30 (INS)—Directors of the United States Steel Corporation declared an extra dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share.

Net earnings of the corporation for the first nine months of the year were $15.82 a share, against $8.17 in the same period last year.

Reports submitted to the directors showed net profit for the September quarter, after depreciation and other changes, were $51,575,350, against $29,886,259 in the same period last year. Nine months net profit aggregated $147,586,640, against $77,086,888 in the same period last year.

Directors further announced that the corporation's option of Columbia Steel which was to expire yesterday had been extended until October 31.

Trusts Buy Stocks

International Superpower Corp., International Carriers, Ltd., and U. S. Electric Light & Power Shares, Inc., were buyers of stocks.

AROOSTOOK'S EARNINGS BIG

September earnings of Bangor & Aroostook Railroad set new records for that month, and registered a sensational gain over those of September, 1928, due to exceptionally heavy shipments of potatoes.

Aroostook has a big crop, estimated at 14,545,000 barrels against 11,710,000 barrels last year, and high prices are inducing rapid shipment. September shipments over Bangor & Aroostook were 5311 cars against 2242 in September, 1928.

Last month's gross earnings of $718,358 contrasted with $482,124 for September, 1928, an increase of $236,234, or 48.9 per cent. Net income, or surplus after charges, was $181,338 against $25,666.

For the first nine months also earnings are substantially ahead of the corresponding period of 1928. Gross of $5,727,875 for the period, including $140,599 of back mail pay, contrasted with $5,292,096. Net income of $958,494 showed an increase of $266,901 over the first nine months of 1928.

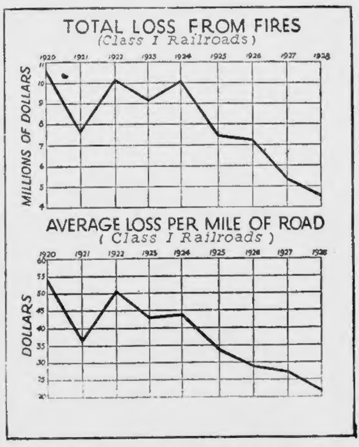
Deducting preferred dividend requirements for nine months, balance was equal to $7.28 per share figured on 106,560 common shares at present outstanding, and which will be increased to 141,792 by sale to stockholders of 35,232 new shares. This compares with $4.77 per share earned in the corresponding period last year.

Taking the 12 months to Sept. 30 balance after charges and preferred dividends was equal to $9.44 per share on 106,560 shares of common, or a little over $7 per share figured on 141,792.

Sugar Meltings Up

Sugar melt of 15 United States refiners from Jan. 1 to Oct. 19 totaled 4,140,000 long tons, against 3,795,000 in the like period. Deliveries were 3,900,000 long tons, against 3,600,000.

RAILS CUT FIRE LOSSES



Charts show how major railroads of United States have reduced loss from fires in the period beginning in 1920. The good results shown are in line with the "Safety First" campaigns.

THE WORLD OF FINANCE

CONVERTIBLE BONDS IN BIG DEMAND

New York, Oct. 30 (AP).—Although liquidation of weaker holdings was still in evidence during trading on the bond market today, issues of prime investment character steadied noticeably from the lower levels attained in yesterday's nervous session. The undertone on the time money market was easier.

Liberty bonds, bought in large blocks on Tuesday, eased a shade. Utilities and industrials proved to be still under pressure.

In the carrier group resistance developed in Atchison General 4s, Pennsylvania guaranteed 4½s and [illegible] 4s, Union Pacific first 4s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s and [illegible] & Pacific [illegible]. [illegible] Great Western 4s, Canadian National Railways 4½s and several Northern Pacific [illegible] a point.

The convertibles staged a [illegible] gained [illegible] points. American Telephone [illegible] which touched the low of 115 at the [illegible] yesterday's [illegible] overnight gain of [illegible] points. [illegible] was [illegible] quotation [illegible].

International Telephone [illegible] down to 115 on Tuesday, scored an advance of more than 15 points, while Atchison 4½s snapped back nearly 20 points from the previous close. American I. G. Chemical 5½s gained nearly 3. The Alleghany 5s and Reading Coal & Iron 6s were steady. Missouri Pacific 5½s and Public Service of New Jersey 4½s continued soft.

Among the industrials and specialties [illegible] Chile Copper 5s, Colorado Fuel & Iron 5s, Calumet Fruit 6s, Inland Steel 4½s and Armour Real Estate 4½s, while Goodyear Tire & Rubber 5s lost 2 points. General Motors Acceptance Corporation 6s fell 1 and National Dairy 5¼s dropped about 1½.

Losses of a point or more appeared in [illegible] & Electric 4s and New York Edison [illegible] and there were similar [illegible] other utilities.

Foreign bonds encountered [illegible] trading after yesterday's [illegible] declines.

Allis Chalmers' Rights Extended

[illegible] of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. states that in view of [illegible] stockholders regarding present disturbed financial conditions, to postpone [illegible] their subscription rights directors have voted to extend the rights until [illegible] 31, 1929, and to permit [illegible] to subscribe on or [illegible] of 50 per cent of subscription price [illegible] on or before January 31, 1930, and the balance of 50 per cent on or before April 30, 1930. At request of directors, members of the underwriting syndicate have consented to these modifications, and their underwriting will continue in force. Those who have exercised their rights under the original plan will be allowed interest at 6 per cent per annum.

Westinghouse Has Increased Profits

The Welfare of Children

If Shameful Schoolhouse Conditions, as Cited by President Lowell of Harvard, Are to Be Corrected, Boston Must Vote "Yes" on the Referendum

"THE only important matter is the welfare of the children," said President Lowell of Harvard, last March, while addressing the Legislative Committee on Cities in favor of the bill creating a board of unpaid commissioners of school buildings and a department of school buildings to replace the Boston Schoolhouse Commission.

President Lowell appeared as a member of the Survey Committee of the Boston Schools which found the present system of schoolhouse construction sadly inefficient and suggested the means of its correction.

That means is incorporated in a referendum on the Boston ballot next Tuesday and in the light of the decision to be made by Boston voters, particularly the parents of children, it is opportune to review President Lowell's remarks:

"We found that there were 207 portable schools, containing between 7000 and 8000 children, in a condition which nobody for a minute would consider proper permanent housing, and yet it is a permanent temporary housing which has continued, with some ups and down, to increase. (Some of the portable schools are 27 years old.) Why is that?

"We found that there are great delays. We found that it was six years from the time the land was taken for the Brighton high school before a spade was put in the ground, and it was four years from the time the architect had an appropriation for his fee before a spade was put in the ground.

"We found the plans extremely defective. . . . If you look at the system you will see why; and, therefore, you had better get rid of the system."

IF THESE SHAMEFUL CONDITIONS ARE TO BE CORRECTED, BOSTON MUST VOTE "YES" ON THE SCHOOLHOUSE REFERENDUM NEXT TUESDAY.

The Horse Is Stolen

Lock the Farm Door

(Copyright, 1929)

WASHINGTON says that the Senate will now proceed to investigate Wall Street's goings on, the Federal Reserve encouragement of usury, etc.

It is the old story of the stolen horse and the barn door.

However, it wouldn't be a waste of time to find out why it is that the Federal Reserve, organized supposedly to PREVENT panics, found it necessary to do everything possible to CAUSE a panic.

As for the gamblers, nothing, of course, would have saved them from their fate. It had to come.

Einstein's Theory

By ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

AT the time of his fiftieth birthday, during the present year, Albert Einstein put forward a new theory concerning the construction of the universe. It was widely acclaimed by scientists. Einstein was feted and honored with honorary degrees and presented with innumerable gifts. His genius was acclaimed anew.

The public acknowledged the salvos of applause, but frankly gave up the attempt to discover what it was all about.

THOUSANDS of books have been written about the theory of relativity. But the general public is as much in the dark as ever.

Why is this?

The chief reason is that relativity, in its broader development, employs a strange and unfamiliar terminology, comprehensible only by the scientist.

It takes months, possibly years, of study to learn how to use these new hieroglyphics, this strange alphabet of a novel science.

Moszkowski, Einstein's biographer, tells the following anecdote, which is both eloquent and true. A lover of literature who was quite deficient in a knowledge of natural science had seen various strange words in some learned articles dealing with relativity. To Einstein he addressed the naive query: "Professor, will you kindly tell me the meaning of potential, invariant, contravariant, energy, tensor, scalar, relativity, postulate, hyper-Euclidean and inertial system?"

EINSTEIN dryly replied: "Why certainly. Those are merely technical expressons."

In order to understand any one of Einstein's theories, which are all aspects of one, all-embracing theory of nature, it is necessary to understand the technical terms which are employed.

In the same way, it is essential to know and to understand the technical terms employed if we are to grasp the meaning of Edison's system of quadruplex telegraphy.

In essence, what is this new theory put forward by Einstein? He calls it a unitary field theory, since it unites into one comprehensive theory and metric properties of space, the gravitational properties of matter, and the electro-magnetic fields set up in the neighborhood of charged bodies.

ACCORDING to his special relativity space was Euclidean or pseudo-Euclidean—of the sort we studied about when we went to high school.

In his generalized relativity which took graviation into account, the new continuum expressing the universe was more complex, uniting time and space in a particular way according to the method of Riemann.

In his last theory, Einstein has discovered a particular structure of space and time in conjunction, which he believes to be an exact representation of nature.

The distinguishing feature of the new theory is that it simultaneously justifies both Newton and Clerk-Maxwell. Gravitation and electro-magnetism are placed upon a parity.

This has been termed the "greatest merger in the history of human thought."

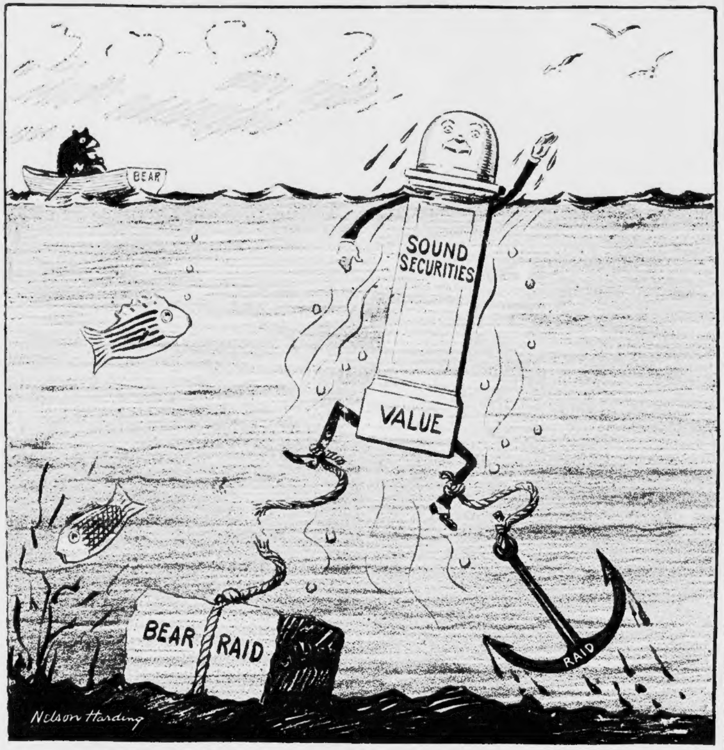
You Can't Keep a Good Stock Down!

By Nelson Harding



The bear evinces pained surprise
To see his would-be victim rise
Up from the depths where it was sunk

Like so much good-for-nothing junk.
Though anchored deep, it will not drown
For it's too buoyant to stay down. —N. H.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—The senatorial investigation of the tariff scramble has simmered down to a two-citizen duel between Q and A.

Q.—Do you believe in the constitution?

A.—Which one?

Q.—Are you for world peace?

A.—Yes, if it ain't too violent.

Q.—Why did Shearer go to Europe?

A.—I'm not interested in that. I want to know why the fool came back.

Q.—Did you ever have your seat contested in a street car or the Senate?

A.—I have never been in a street car.

A.—I am. Especially the versa.

Q.—Did you advocate a protective tariff on bootleg booze?

A.—I wanted to save an American industry.

Q.—Is it true that you employed four lobbyists?

A.—No. I employed one. He brought three friends along.

Q.—Did you ever take money from the enemy?

A.—A man who gives you money is no enemy.

Q.—Do you consider the word falsification a personal pronoun?

A.—No. What I said was that we could raise enough money to sweeten the Great Salt Lake.

Q.—The inquiry is adjourned. We apologize to the defendant for his embarrassing answer. This is a nation. Huff the people and bite the people. Let's scramm over to Gus' joint and put on the nosebag. After there is no law against lobbying.

A.—That's right.

Q.—No. It ain't right. If it was right there would be a law against it.

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and Geo. P. Wells

IN the developing young, every one of these extreme forms began as a simple one, like that to be immediately described. We may compare the body to a community and the cells to the individuals of which this vast organized population is composed.

H. G. Wells

It is very important to realize that this is not a merely allegorical comparison. It is a statement of proven fact, for—we resort here to the stress of italics—single cells can be isolated from the rest of the body and kept alive.

This is a branch of biological investigation only recently developed.

Under the microscope the cell released from a piece of living membrane is a tiny, flat, irregularly-shaped lump of protoplasm. It is not bounded by any visible wall; there is just a simple interface (the meaning of this useful new word is too plain to need definition), separating the cell-substance from the surrounding fluid.

The outline is constantly changing. Sometimes it changes so rapidly that one can watch bulges being thrust out of the cell, and withdrawn again; sometimes so slowly that one must make accurate drawings—or, better, photographs—every few minutes, and compare them with each other before any change can be detected. By means of such movements the cell creeps slowly about.

The ground-substance, which is called the cytoplasm, is a fluid as clear as glass. Somewhere about the middle of the cell is the large, rounded nucleus; floating in the transparent cyptoplasm round the nucleus are numbers of smaller bodies of various kinds.

These bodies are seldom at rest; in the living cell incessant movement is the rule. Some of the bodies are carried passively hither and thither by streaming movements of the cytoplasm while others seem to have wills of their own, and dart actively and independently through the cytoplasm.

Most conspicuous among those bodies are certain regular globules, more or less numerous, which appear to the observer as brilliant shining spheres. These we now know are tiny droplets of oil. They move about the cell slowly and in groups; their wandering is purely passive, and they simply drift along, carried by currents in the cytoplasm. Scattered among these globules, less brilliantly luminous and much smaller, is a host of fine granules. These granules show irregular movements which, like those of the oil-droplets, are probably passive and due to currents in the transparent cell-fluid.

Very different from these granules and droplets are certain snake-like threads which writhe slowly through the cell. These threads are exceedingly fine, and their length is variable; sometimes a thread can be seen to break into two, or two threads may join together end-to-end to form one. Their movements are apparently spontaneous and independent of cytoplasmic currents.

The threads are called mitochrondria and are composed of albumen and a fat-like compound, lecithin. Though evidently of importance to the cell their use has not yet been discovered. Lying like a cap over one end of the nucleus, a zone called the centrosphere may be distinguished. The principal function of this zone, which is dimly seen as a tangle of filaments and granules, will be described later on, in connection with cell-division. For the present its interest lies in the fact that it seems to be a region where mitochrondria are made; they can be seen wriggling out from it into the cytoplasm.

Lastly, if the tissue under examination was taken from the eye of the embryo chick, there may be present among these other bodies within the cell a number of tiny rods of pigment. Sometimes these pigment-rods lie passively still, showing only a barely perceptible trembling movement.

This slight quivering is an example of what is known as Brownian movement; it is due to the actual impact of molecules upon the sides of the rods. But from time to time these rods exhibit movements which it is hard to attribute to cytoplasmic currents; they dart to and fro "more or less rapidly and irresponsively, like guinea-pigs in a run." We take our description from a paper by the late Dr. Strangeways of Cambridge, who was one of the leading workers on tissue-culture.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

IT'S pretty hard for even a fickle lover to destroy a woman's faith in life, so long as she has a reliable milliner, a dependable beauty-parlor, and a brand new permanent wave.

It takes the keen dramatic instinct of a skilled actress for a woman to turn down a man's ardent overtures with that "It-hurts-me-more-than-it-does-you!" expression. But it always gets the effect.

The average young bachelor thinks of marriage as the drydock, into which he may finally permit himself to be towed, after he is weary of adventure and tired of "seeing the world."

No man wants a woman to be "peppy," every day, hour and minute. On Saturday evening, he may demand pep; but most of the rest of the week, he longs for a nice, soothing, subtle bromide to REST him.

Women seldom think of any man under 40 as a "bachelor"; because, so long as the mold hasn't "set" and he is still impressionable, no man is anything but a potential husband.

One form of woman's inhumanity to man, is to drag him out to a restaurant dinner, every Sunday evening, and then spend the time telling him how much better she could have cooked it.

The average man's idea of "taming" a woman is to shake all the star dust out of her eyes and the illusions out of her mind—and then try to paste them back in again.

Perhaps the old-fashioned girl got kissed just as often as the modern girl; but, she knew the art of getting kissed "against her will," and of making the man regard her kisses as an achievement rather than as an adventure.

The greatest grievance that the average man has against his wife is that there is never ANY place around the house to throw his ashes except the ash-trays.

Fine Father, Fine Daughter

Both Are Fortunate and Happy

(Copyright, 1929)

RAMSAY MacDONALD AND HIS LOVELY YOUNG DAUGHTER, ISHBEL, TALKING TO THE CAPTAIN OF THE BERENGARIA

THIS photograph interests fathers and mothers, daughters and sons.

It shows Ramsay MacDonald, British Prime Minister, when on his way to America on the Berengaria, talking to Sir Arthur A. H. Rostron, the Berengaria's captain. Prime Minister MacDonald and his daughter ended their visit to the United States, and went to Canada, leaving friendly feelings and friendly confidence in the minds of millions. They are now on the high seas, homeward bound.

Mr. MacDonald talked to our President sincerely on the subject of British and American friendship and economy and national war expenditures.

They talked, not along the lines of secret diplomacy, but with real friendship. And what they said they repeated to the people of America and of the British Empire.

Mr. MacDonald talked also over the radio, heard by every man and woman in the United States that chose to listen, and by hundreds of millions in other countries.

Everyone that heard him was impressed by his sincerity.

HE IS A GOOD MAN, an honor to the British laboring class that produced him and an honor to Great Britain that had sufficient intelligence to make him Prime Minister.

This picture is one of real happiness. Fathers and mothers will look upon this man and his daughter with tender feelings of sympathy and good will.

The mother dead, the daughter has taken her mother's place.

She looks after her father, helps him in his hard work, as the dead mother would have loved to do.

Happy the father of such a fine girl.

Happy the daughter of so good and noble a father.

This country thanks them for their visit, hopes they will come again, and wishes for them happiness and success throughout a long life.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. M'INTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—That two block-long strip of 57th st. between Madison and 6th ave. is becoming New York's rue de la Paix—the de luxe shopping center. In 15 years New York's exclusive shopping area has jumped from 34th to 57th. Real estate men say in 10 more years it will be near 80th st.

While 5th and Madison aves. are smart they haven't that distinct communal efflorescence encompassed on 57th. It was recently broadened and pulses with artistic creations in millinery, jewelry settings, frocks, etc. Sidewalks have been widened and there is the soft rustle of Hispanos and Rolls.

The ballooning of an obscure street into sudden swankiness is usually the caprice of some freakish fortune. Fifty-seventh st. 20 years ago was lined with sombre brown stone fronts. Prices of real estate had sagged and there were no buyers.

Only one homeowner there seemed to sense the northward business sweep then, at 34th st., would come that far. He bought strips of decaying houses on both sides of the street in each block and started a further depression of values by renting basements to cheap [illegible] stores and first floors to table d'hotes.

It was a shrewd move. Frightened realty owners decided to be rid of their property at a sacrifice and he bought them. Then he got rid of the riff-raff tradesmen to whom he had granted only short leases, and in 18 years is said to have netted a profit of more than $14,000,000.

There are many groups of real estate speculators, backed by high powered organizations, who are said to be able to depress and increase real estate values in a given neighborhood by manipulation. It generally requires two years, but sometimes it is done in six months.

The first newspaper in New York was the Gazette, a weekly, which made its first appearance in 1725. There is still a search for a copy of the first issue. A collector offers $3000 for it.

One of the finest collections of prints of early New York is owned by Henry L. Doherty, the public utility magnate. In most of them are seen hogs searching for truffles in the public street—the early Manhattan manner of getting rid of garbage. And all the prowling cats seem to be in the throes of maternity.

A tailor declares that many of his impeccably tailored and soaped customers buy clothes to match the hair of their dog. Only those chauffeurizing a dog in shedding time realize the wisdom of such a purchase.

Tex Rickard's successor as a prize fight promoter has not so far captured the imagination of the sporting crowd. Tex knew how to dramatize himself. His cigar became an epic and his drawl a manner. The wearer of his mantle is William F. Carey, a raw boned fellow who has knocked about the world as a construction engineer with two companies he heads. He took the presidency of Madison Sq. Garden solely for relaxation. He loves boxing and the job gives him the intimate touch with it.

More than 200 actresses, according to the tabloids, have been involved in the crime passionel of Broadway. Whenever the fermenting underworld spews up a case involving a woman, she becomes "a prominent actress." Yet an investigator finds that only one—Margaret Lawrence—in the past three years had any standing whatever on the speaking stage. The rest, so designated, were night club girls or performers in cafes and burlesque.
